GEORGIA LEADERS PLEDGE MORAL AND FINANCIAL BACKING TO MOVEMENT FOR BALANCED FARMING

Arnow Won in Senate Race, Rules Committee

MINORITY REPORT FAVORING VOCELLE TO BE SUBMITTED

Ballots Cast for Him in Camden and Charlton Counties Tossed Out, Declares Arnow.

VOCELLE PRESENTS CLAIMS TO POSITION

Charges Fraud Committed in Scratching Out His Name and Inserting Opponent's on Ballot.

By a vote of 5 to 3, members of the senate committee on privileges and elections Thursday afternoon declared Charles S. Arnow, of Camden county, winner in the contested election involving the senatorship from the fourth district, over his opponent, James T. Vocelle, who claimed the office on the grounds that he was the duly elected nominee at the democratic primary last September.

Mr. Arnow, who entered the race for senatorship from the fourth district as an independent candidate, filed notice of contest with Governor Hardwick after the general election last November, claiming that votes cast for him in Camden and Charlton counties had been added by the election managers to the total of Mr. Vocelle.

Testimony Is Given.
The committee's decision was reached in executive session after the two claimants had presented their testimony. Mr. Vocelle conducted his own case, consuming more than an hour in presenting evidence in support of his claim for the place. Mr. Arnow was represented by Attorney S. C. Townsend, of St. Marys, former senator from the fourth district.

Mr. Arnow made no statement whatsoever, leaving the full discussion of his case in the hands of his attorney. Claiming that "fraud was committed" by certain precinct managers in Camden and Charlton counties, in that the name of Vocelle was scratched from the official democratic ballot and the name of Arnow substituted in red ink, the former declared that under provisions of the Neill primary act of 1917 this practice was forbidden.

"That is what transpired in certain precincts of Camden and Charlton counties," declared Mr. Vocelle, "I was duly nominated at the white democratic primary as the official democratic nominee. Just before the general election, Mr. Arnow announced for the office as an independent candidate. He should have furnished his

PRICE OF MURDER TAKES BIG DROP AS MARK SLUMPS

Berlin, June 28.—"I didn't know it was loaded," murders come cheap in Germany.

Brung Horstman finished a drink, laid his glass across the table, and decided he didn't like the color of a friend's necktie.

He placed his revolver against the offending scarf and pulled the trigger. Brung was wrong. The revolver was loaded.

Friend completely dead: Brung sorry.

Court sympathetic, fined him $40 worth of marks.

All Law Violators Now to Stand Trial In Recorder's Court

Women Who Break Minor Traffic Regulations and All Slight Offenders to Get Jolt.

BEAVERS TO ENFORCE COMMITTEE'S RULING

Resolution Intended Only to Strike Blow at Vice and Gambling, Declares Armistead.

POLICE COMMITTEE WILL MEET TO CLARIFY RULES

After being in force only one day the new rules of the police committee on arrests and bonds, face changes today when a special meeting of the committee will be held.

It was near the midnight hour when three men and five women were arrested in two raids on alleged disorderly houses.

"How about bonds?" one of the men asked. The lieutenant held he had no authority to assess a bond. He passed the buck to the captain, the captain to Chief Beavers, the chief to Recorder George Johnson.

"That's the chief's duty," plied the recorder. "Have no authority," answered the chief. Finally Johnson relented and fixed $50 bonds each.

Today the committee will try to fix things up so that the recorder will be free from 12 o'clock calls and lost sleep.

Violators of all laws in Atlanta are due for a jolt as the result of issuance Thursday by Chief of Police James L. Beavers of rigid instructions to his men to carry into effect a resolution adopted by the police committee of council Wednesday, in which the police were directed "to arrest any person who has forfeited a bond and bring him into court for trial."

The full force of the resolution was not brought to public attention until Chief Beavers drew attention to the fact that, according to the letter of the measure, all law violators—regardless of whether their offense are slight or serious—must henceforth face trial in recorder's court.

The chief's order served to spread

BOILER EXPLOSION KILLS THREE MEN

Cold Water Turned Into Hot Boiler and Weighted Pop-off Valve Blamed for Fatalities.

Silver, Ga., June 28.—(Special.) The explosion of a boiler at the saw mill of J. D. Bridges at Sumner, near here, about two o'clock this afternoon killed one white man and two negroes instantly and fatally injured two white men and one negro.

The dead are Rhodes Ellis, a white machinist about 40 years old, Wes Dwyer, negro fireman, and Julius Francis, negro employed at mill. The latter was found 250 feet from where he was standing when the explosion occurred, having been blown this distance by steam. The ends of the boiler blew out and these men happened to be in the path.

Loye Ellis, 17-year-old son of the dead man, was helping his father repair a belt at the time of the accident and was scalded so that there is little hope of recovery.

Henry J. Baker, a white man, had just walked up to the mill expecting to start to work when the accident occurred, scalding him even worse than young Ellis. He is said to have very little chance of recovering. Jeff Glover, another negro who was scalded, has a slight chance of recovery.

It was said that the pop-off valve was weighted down and probably was in a way responsible for the explosion.

Mr. Bridges is quoted as stating that the water had run low in one of the two large boilers, and it exploded when cold water was turned into it. The mill was almost completely demolished by the force of the explosion.

CHURCHMAN HOLD 12-HOUR SYSTEM 'MORAL TRESPASS'

American Churches Publish Bulletin Assailing Two-Shift System Used in Steel Industry.

New York, June 28.—Continuing their persistent assault on the 12-hour day in the steel industry American churches published an exhaustive bulletin Thursday calling the two-shift system a "moral trespass" against 150,000 workers, and urging that a change to the eight-hour day would add no more than three per cent to the cost of steel.

This bulletin, entitled "The Twelve-Hour Day in the Steel Industry," issued by the Federal Council of Churches, charged a prevalence of "misleading propaganda" in the controversy. It referred specifically to Judge Elbert H. Gary's defense of the long day before the iron and steel institute. Also, it challenged specifically a book by Marshall Olds, defending the two-shift plan, as "teeming with errors and misleading statements."

Statistics Garbled.
Although this book, the churchmen alleged, mutilates quotations and garbles statistics, it is used by Judge Gary in behalf of the policy of the steel industry, together with an introduction by a well-known economist and a certificate of accuracy by a firm of New York accountants.

"When economists and public accountants miss the mark so widely, churchmen are not likely to take very seriously the admonition to keep away from economic questions," declared the Rev. E. Ernest Johnson, head of the church research department, in issuing advance proofs of the bulletin. "The fact remains that the pronouncement of church men on the steel industry have been remarkably accurate as compared with the absurdly misleading documents which the industry has circulated in its own defense."

A "Moral Trespass."
"No line can be drawn between technical questions and moral questions," two industry objects that we churchmen are invading a technical realm when we discuss engineering problems, we must reply that when industry employs men 12 hours a day it is committing a moral trespass and challenges the churches in their own field.

Steel workers, the bulletin emphasized, are not to be considered as things in wages to obtain the shorter day. The pamphlet attacked the anti-conference policy of the steel chiefs, urging that the men be given a voice on their working conditions.

The steel industry, Johnson charged, is using the business revival and an alleged labor shortage as an excuse for postponing the eight-hour day, and is contemptuous of public opinion in its attitude toward its workers.

BIG GAIN SHOWN IN JUNE BUILDING

Figures Up to Present Time Are $2,455,923 Against $1,622,775 for Same Period Last Year.

June building is booming ahead at an accelerated speed in spite of wet weather and scorching sunshine. Figures up to the close of business Thursday evening in Building Inspector C. J. Bowen's office showed that permits had been issued for $2,455,923 worth of buildings, against $1,622,775 worth to the same date last month, exceeding already, with three days to go, the figures for the entire month of May, which totaled $2,406,414.

The 15-story new hotel to be built by the Central Leases company at the corner of Cone and Luckie streets, the F. G. Willis building at 444 Courtland, the Glenn Street Baptist church, the Church of Christ parsonage permits were a few of the major items that helped to swell the June building figures.

Three elevators to be installed in the Fourth National bank building will cost $74,000, giving the casual rider in an electric lift some idea of why rents seem to be high as skyscrapers are tall.

Question of Future Value of German Bonds Gives Rise to Consideration of Austrian Debacle.

POPE PIUS CONDEMNS FRENCH POLICY IN RUHR

Rome, June 28.—A plea for condemnation of the French reparations policy is contained in a letter written by Pope Pius XI to Cardinal Gasparri.

The letter deals entirely with the Ruhr situation and states that justice, world peace and the interest of the creditors themselves demands that creditor powers should not exact from debtors what the latter can not give without totally exhausting their resources and impairing their productiveness.

This, declares Pope Pius, leads to the danger of social disturbances which seriously injure Europe.

BY MARK SULLIVAN

Paris, June 28.—Communications between France and Britain looking to common action in regard to Germany are dragging in a way that causes some pessimism. But there is not yet any mutually admitted deadlock, and there is on both sides a wish to avoid a deadlock. This wish, however, varies in degree.

On the British side, it is a determination to keep up the spark of life in these negotiations until the last possible moment, modified by an equal determination to come to act upon the conclusion that either the entente between the two nations still exists or does not exist. In the event that the latter should be the conclusion Britain will pioneer along another course.

French Unconcerned.
On the side of the French, the attitude toward the present negotiations is more tepid. It may be described as a state of mind which does not want a rupture, will not take any affirmative action designed to cause a rupture, but will not make great concessions to avoid one.

The immediate strain is largely over the relation of the interallied debts to reparations. France wants reparations paid out of the A and B bonds, leaving her debts to Britain and America.

Squinting Employees Add to Living Cost, Optometrists Told

Chicago, June 28.—Everytime an employee squints, blinks or looks cross-eyed, it adds to the cost of living, Prof. Howard D. Minchen, of Ohio State university, declared today in a plea for visual conservation in industry before the annual congress of the American Optometrist association.

Defective vision and faulty illumination are two of the chief causes of lower production, Professor Minchen declared, adding that higher prices for all manufactured articles are to some extent the result of poor eyesight.

Harding Would Bridge Producer-Consumer Gap by Co-Operation

ALABAMA SENATOR EXPECTED TO RUN IN 1924 CAMPAIGN

Friends of Oscar Underwood Await Definite Instructions at Conference With Closest Advisers.

BY RAYMOND CLAPPER.

Washington, June 28.—Recent developments which have boosted the stock of dry presidential possibilities have failed to affect the enthusiasm of Oscar Underwood's friends, and the Alabama senator, who is now on the high seas returning from Europe, is expected to make known his democratic candidacy within a short time after his arrival. Close friends of the senator said he would hold a number of conferences with his advisors to run and those closest to him predict he will do so.

Underwood is classed as a wet and is opposed by the organized drys. But in view of events that have transpired since he sailed for Europe last March, the senator probably will take occasion to make a careful and complete statement of his views on prohibition.

Several developments have taken place recently that give a new turn to the liquor issue. Governor Al Smith's approval of the state enforcement repealer, has failed to evoke the general enthusiasm that was anticipated. Many democratic politicians have sensed danger in following his lead, notably Tom Taggart, of Indiana, who has always been regarded as a friend of personal liberty.

After analyzing the reaction to Governor Smith's action, Taggart stated publicly that liquor has ceased to be a political asset to the democratic party.

Underwood's chances of capturing the democratic nomination are difficult to forecast at this stage. The whole situation depends now upon what Henry Ford does. If he keeps out of the democratic contest—which is unlikely—Underwood still would have to divide the delegates with McAdoo and neither would be able to carry two-thirds of the convention.

This would force a deadlock and nomination of a compromise candidate like Ralston.

Women Heap Jewelry At Shrine of Patron Saint of Linguaglossa

Linguaglossa, June 28.—The women of Linguaglossa no longer wear gold earrings, bracelets or rings. House and Senate Will Name Members Suggested by Governor-Elect.

While committees from the two houses to act as official inauguration committees when Clifford M. Walker, of Monroe, is inducted into office tomorrow as the highest executive in the state, have not yet been appointed, a list has been prepared as suggested by Mr. Walker, and will be officially named at today's session of the legislature.

The committee from the house will be composed of Representatives Alton C. Stone, of Walton, chairman; J. B. Daniel, of Troup, vice chairman; Judge G. H. Aubrey, of Bartow; Mrs. Viola Ross Napier, of Bibb; Dr. Charles N. Howard, Jr., of Chattahoochee; H. H. Elders, of Tattall; Samuel Rutherford, of Monroe; W. G. Suttie, of Chatham; L. S. Camp, of Campbell, and A. Stanley Bussy, of Crisp.

The senate committee is to be as follows:

G. A. Johns, of the Twenty-seventh, chairman; W. W. Mundy, Thirty-eighth, vice chairman; John R. Phillips, Eighteenth; C. D. Redwine, Twenty-sixth; W. B. Kennedy, Forty-ninth; Boyce Ficklen, Fiftieth; J. M. Spence, Eighth; Ernest M. Smith, Thirty-fifth; R. E. A. Hamby, Fortieth, and Louis S. Moore, Seventy.

Judge G. H. Howard will be chairman of the local committee in charge of the inaugural, but other members of this committee remain to be selected. Judge Howard was campaign manager for Governor-elect Walker last year.

Letters have been mailed to all living ex-governors inviting them to attend the exercises, which will be held in the house of representatives. These include Hugh L. Dorsey, Atlanta; Joseph M. Brown, Marietta; John M. Slaton, Atlanta; E. D. McDaniel, Monroe; Nat E. Harris, Macon, and Hoke Smith, Atlanta.

STAND OF BRITAIN ON 12-MILE LIMIT SURPRISE TO U. S.

Uncompromising Attitude Taken by Curzon in Flatly Rejecting Proposal Complicates Problem.

ACTION BY CONGRESS NOW HELD NECESSARY

Liner Rochambeau Arrives at New York With Largest Liquor Cargo Since Ruling Effective.

LORD CURZON EMPHATIC IN REFUSING PROPOSAL

London, June 28.—"There is no chance of our agreeing, under any circumstances whatever, to the American proposal for a 12-mile territorial limit," declared Lord Curzon, foreign minister, speaking in the house of lords Thursday.

He declared that a committee of parliament headed by Ronald McNeill, Curzon's under-secretary, was considering the question of seizure of liquor on British vessels in the port of New York, and said: "Friendly discussion of the question has been going on for about 12 months and the channels of diplomacy are being used to find an exit from a situation which is undoubtedly disagreeable and which ought not to be allowed to continue," Curzon added.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Washington, June 28.—Foreign Secretary Curzon's flat rejection of the 12-mile limit proposal apparently has countered effectually the effort of the state department to clear away at one stroke the ship liquor controversy and the rum smuggling problem along the Atlantic coast.

What will be the next move related to this particular feature of the much complicated prohibition question has not been revealed, but the immediate result of the foreign secretary's announcement here was to revive speculation as to possible action at the next session of congress to revise the law as to make it less offensive to foreign governments.

The positive language used by Mr. Curzon caused considerable surprise, since there had been no previous indication through official channels that any of the European powers was ready to make known its attitude toward the proposal of Secretary Hughes. Under his plan a reciprocal treaty would be made permitting the bringing of sealed liquor into American territorial waters on condition that the right to search suspected smuggling craft was extended to 12 miles from shore.

In Large Majority.

Ships under the British flag have been in the large majority among those engaged in the smuggling operation.

?Why the Weather? DR. CHARLES F. BROOKS, Secretary American Meteorological Society, Describes:

Safety in Thunderstorms.

Hazard in a thunderstorm is never great, as statistics prove, yet hazard always exists. A person is safer in some places than in others. A modern steel office building, a structure like the Eiffel Tower in Paris, a steel ship, all are practically lightning proof, so far as human occupants are concerned. The current follows the steel shell, and a bolt may strike the structure and those within it never be aware of it. It is safer in a house than out of doors.

In the open one should avoid high ground and especially isolated trees and the edges of woods, especially on the side from which the storm is approaching. Low trees well within a woods, but not close to any exceptionally tall trees are much less dangerous than trees in the open. Caves or ground caverns of any sort are comparatively safe. When lightning is very severe even sitting or lying in a ditch, however uncomfortable that might be, is recommended. Above all, avoid the hillcrest, the wire fence and the isolated tree.

FUND OF $150,000 WILL BE RAISED TO CONDUCT WORK

More Than Half of the Counties of Georgia Represented at Meeting Called by The Constitution.

REMEDIES SUGGESTED BY MANY SPEAKERS

Governor-elect Walker and Senators Harris and George C. K. C. Ausley Succeeds Betts.

BY STEWART F. GELDERS.

Georgians from more than half the counties of the state at the mass meeting called Thursday night by The Constitution pledged moral and financial support to the Georgia association movement for balanced agriculture in Georgia.

The pledge of support to the program, which involves raising a campaign fund of $150,000, was made by the gathering, which overflowed the big assembly room of the chamber of commerce, after it had been addressed by the most distinguished group of speakers that had ever gathered on one platform to support a program for the development of Georgia agriculture.

Among the speakers were Governor-elect Clifford N. Walker, Senator William J. Harris, Senator Walter F. George, Congressman Wright of the Fourth district, J. J. Brown, Georgia commissioner of agriculture; Dr. Andrew M. Soule, president of the State College of Agriculture; Charles S. Barrett, national president of the farmers' union; Mrs. J. E. Hay, president of the Georgia Federation of Women's clubs; James A. Hollomon, associate editor of The Constitution, and others.

Remedies for existing conditions, which involve the boll weevil, the migration of the negro and of many white farmers, the abandonment of thousands of farms and the near-ruin of thousands of Georgia farmers and business men, were suggested by the speakers as follows:

1. Education of young men for leadership in better farming.
2. A revised system of taxation that will take the burden of supporting the state off the land.
3. A system of markets for crops other than cotton not only through farmers' co-operative agencies but by help of business men in the cities.
4. Development of Georgia industries to increase the number of consumers for perishable products close to home and to manufacture Georgia products in Georgia.

5. Teaching farmers to prepare their crops for sale.
6. Lifting of the immigration bars to check the drain on southern farm labor.
7. The Florida plan for combating the boll weevil.

8. Community markets in all towns and cities to utilize Georgia food products on Georgia tables.

9. The Turner county "hog, cow and hen" plan of balanced agriculture. Other measures were suggested but practically all of them revolved around the subjects of education, tax-

YELLOW CAB

A reputation which is priceless to us

A reputation for efficient service and absolutely honorable dealings with the public is worth more to a taxicab operator than any other one item in the business.
Since the introduction of Yellow Cabs to Atlanta some several years ago, we have constantly striven towards that ideal. That the Yellow Cab Company is known today in Atlanta as an efficient, courteous, and able organization speaks well for our reputation.

Knowing that our drivers furnish the direct contact with the public, these drivers are carefully chosen and just as carefully trained. You will find them to be gentlemanly, anxious that the patron of Yellow Cab service shall be pleased in every particular. Because of this spirit in our drivers our business has grown until today it is outstanding among taxicab operators in the south.

The new RED TOP cabs,
recently added to our equipment,
offer the finest cabs possible to purchase.
Comfortable, commodious, attractive, and equipped with the latest safety appliances, they are not excelled by any taxicab in America. Call for one when you next need a cab.

Your wife, mother or daughter may use a Yellow Cab in perfect safety

"To this and many experiments have been made in co-operative production, transportation, distribution and purchasing. To a great extent, these experiments have proceeded from the enterprise and initiative of the western people, to whom these problems have presented themselves with special insistence. But for the spirit of co-operation, the willingness to be mutually helpful, the determination to give first place to the interests of the community you could not have made your west what it is. Working co-operation on a great scale practical in operation and adequate to cope with our problems can never be possible except where there is this spirit, determination and purpose, it is because the west has led so far in devising such workable programs that I have thought to say a few words along this line today.

Close Harmony.
"Developments of the last generation have brought the instrumentalities of transportation, of finance, of corporate organization and operation into a closer harmony with the public interest than ever before. Government has sought to make itself helpful, to point the way, to remove ancient barriers of custom or tradition, and to curb the excessive demands of privilege in order to clear the way for the great public many of the services which formerly were dominated by the private interests and operated for private profit.
Anything tending to break down personal initiative, to destroy enterprise and initiative, must not enter into the program which can hope for the approval of the American people.
Ours is an individualistic society, and we want it to remain so. We want this republic to remain always the land of opportunity wherein every man's abilities and usefulness shall measure his personal advancement and the progress of the nation. The kind of a program to encourage co-operation and co-ordination, which I have in mind, would not interfere with the freedom of proper opportunity; rather, it would enhance the individual's chance to better his individual fortune.

Would Shorten Bridge.
"The need of this time is to shorten the bridge between producer and consumer, and to reduce the toll that must be paid for passing over it. We all know a good deal about the various co-operative societies, associations and corporations which have undertaken in many cases with notable success to improve the position of the agricultural producers. Such organizations have been successful in all parts of the old world, and in many parts of the new world. They have already done a great work and brought us many valuable lessons. Where there are obstacles, imposed by unfortunate statutes or public policies, or in the way of expanding such activities as these, they might, they should gradually remove through measures of helpfulness and encouragement.
"On the whole, I think the agricultural community has been more alive to the promotion of its interests along these lines than has the urban community. The farmers have seen where their interests lay, and have been more prompt and energetic in promulgating effective measures to protect them than the people of the city and town have been. There is need to have working and practical co-operative associations of producers in the country and at the same time to have equally effective co-operations among the consuming communities of the cities and towns, and finally to link these two sets of co-operations together in a co-ordination for mutual advantage to both. I believe it is possible, and altogether desirable, that systems of credit and finance should be developed, under public auspices, to encourage both these kinds of co-operation; and to draw them together into a harmonious working scheme of widespread distribution at the lowest possible expense.

Agricultural Finance.
"We have in recent years given much attention to developing a system of agricultural finance, particularly adapted to the needs of American farm producers. Some critics have indeed protested that it was class legislation. Perhaps it was, but it was suggested in discussion the problem of agriculture in Kansas the other day, it was in the interest of a vitally important section of the community which has heretofore had altogether too little consideration. Not only have I no apology for what has been done in the interest of the agricultural community; not only do I not regret it as one of the monumental achievements of the last generation in developing our country's institutions; but I venture that we might with profit to the whole world consider the possibility of effecting an analogous organization to promote and encourage, through measures of credit and finance, a proper organization of the consuming community in both cities and country.

"I have not attempted to work out even an outline, much less the details of such a system; but I believe it is possible, feasible and certain to command the sympathy of men and women who have the true interest of the country at heart. I hope to be able,
as the result of studies and investigations, to recommend for the consideration of the congress measures which shall represent a beginning along this line. It is a big and pregnant subject to which nothing, man or woman can deny the fullest and most careful consideration. My thought is that the government should give the largest encouragement, consistent with sound economics and proper government functions, to every effort of the people to help themselves in dealing with the high cost of living and the relationship of incomes to our household budgets.

Scheme of Co-operation.
"I have wondered if it were not possible, for example, that a scheme of co-operation among consumers, financed in part at least through a carefully organized and supervised adaptation of the principles of the savings bank or the building and loan society, might be made to serve a splendidly useful purpose in this department of our economic life. I think this would be preferable to having limited sections of the community undertaking to establish financial independence and economic solidarity, as some of them have lately been doing. The development of such a general program into a sound working business scheme would doubtless be found chiefly an affair of the state governments, but one in which the initiative of state and national authorities might prove practicable and even necessary.

"I bring this suggestion of a direction which might be given to activities of the kind. I believe the suggestion is worthy of careful examination and consideration. I am convinced that its discussion would be fruitful of good results, and a reminder to some who are disposed to take unreasonable tolls from the consuming and the producing public, that this public has the right, the power and the ability to devise means to protect itself.

"The aim and object of our every policy must be the establishment and maintenance of an independent and self-respecting, reliant and industrious, intelligent and self-helpful American citizenship. We seek to encourage thrift, to promote saving to make the American home the headquarters of an ever broadening culture, a large understanding of the complex problems of our times, and of a determined aspiration for the fullest measure of economic and social justice."

One of the largest, if not the largest of audiences that have heard the president giving an observation platform address, listened to the chief executive here.

Plays for World Court.
Pocatello, Idaho, June 28.—Declaring the American people "ought to give of their influence to direct the world to a plane where there will be less of war," President Harding carried into Idaho, the home of Senator Borah, today an appeal for American membership in the permanent court of international justice.

The president touched upon the world court matter in his address here just at the conclusion and after saying that he had not intended to discuss it. His declaration in favor of some step to avert war was applauded and mention of the world court also was cheered.

Having been told that the transportation question was paramount in interest in Idaho, the president voted a considerable portion of his address, delivered from the rear platform of his train here, to that topic.
He referred to the prospect of the best crops Idaho has had in five years and added:

"No matter how beautiful you conduce it is in vain unless you can market your products."

The president said he was glad to note the initiative taken in Utah to obtain relief from transportation troubles through building up at home of industries, speaking particularly of the step taken in the state to produce sugar and added that so long as he was president, "every protection will be given to the domestic sugar industry."

Speaks to Railroad Men.
Speaking directly to a group of railroad men gathered beside his car, the president continued.

"Railroad men are just as concerned with transportation as the rest of the population. I think that the men who are engaged in transportation in this country ought to be the best paid of any industry and to toil under the most favorable conditions. You have not any right under any conditions to bring about a suspension of service."

"I don't mean that the government will ever require you to work against your will. We can't do that in free America. But I do mean you should not suspend work to accomplish a grievance of your own until every effort at adjustment has been made."
The chief executive also took occasion to bespeak the government's interest in reclamation and after noticing a group of Indians nearby said he wished the states would "join in encouraging the Indians to embrace the best in American citizenship."

Concluding his address the president and Mrs. Harding were taken on an automobile tour of the city and held a public reception, leaving at one o'clock for Idaho Falls, where Mr. Harding is to make his second address in the state.

The president delivered his final speech in Utah before 8 o'clock this morning at Brigham, where he appeared on the rear platform attired in a bath robe to greet those gathered at the station.

FARMER IN TERRELL IS KILLED BY NEGRO

Dawson, Ga., June 28.—(Special.)
Lester K. Powell, white farmer, aged about 30 years, was shot and instantly killed about 8 o'clock last night by Joe Green, a young negro farm hand, about 12 or 14 years of age, when Powell went to the home of the negro's mother to see about some work the negroes were supposed to have done.

Sarah Green, the mother of the boy, states that Powell came to the house and was beating her with a stick when she called to her children not to let him kill her.

At this stage of the scuffle the boy joined in with a single-barrel shot gun, which Powell grabbed by the muzzle, holding the stick with the other hand while the woman hid taken hold of. The boy admits he pulled the trigger, which fired the fatal shot, during the scuffle.

It seems that Powell had had previous trouble with the negroes about their work and there was ill-feeling on both sides.

Sarah Green, the mother of the boy, and two daughters are in the Terrell county jail, while Joe has been spirited away by officers and placed in jail at some other point for safekeeping.

Powell is survived by his mother, two sisters and a brother, all of this county. He lived on the Dawson-Parrott road, about four miles out of the city and the shooting occurred on his mother's farm near her home.

BOY IS KILLED IN PLUNGE DOWN ELEVATOR SHAFT

Kansas City, Kans., June 28.—

CHARLES S. ARNOW.
Former state game warden, who won day in contest for senate seat.

VOCELLE BEATEN IN SENATE RACE

own tickets, at the ballot boxes showing him as an independent candidate, but instead he had some printed exactly like the official democratic tickets, which even contained my name, but this was scratched out in red ink and the name of Mr. Arnow substituted with a rubber stamp.

"These ballots were given out at the polls and were decidedly misleading for the way they read, after being doctored, would make it appear that Mr. Arnow was the democratic nominee. When these ballots were checked in Camden and Charleston counties and this condition discovered, the election managers took all such votes from him and gave them to me as the official democratic nominee."

"It is left to the judgment of you, gentlemen, as to whether or not the white primary system, as provided in the Neill act of 1917, shall be preserved."

Attorney Townsend, in support of Mr. Arnow, declared that "one of the main principles yet exercised in this country gave a citizen the right to vote for whom he pleases." He admitted that Mr. Arnow had provided his own ballots, stating that he had a legal right to do so.

No Evidence of Tampering.
"There has been no evidence to show that the ballots were tampered with prior to their being placed in the ballot boxes," asserted Mr. Townsend. "These tickets could have been scratched at the time of the individual voter's appearance at the polls and the name of Mr. Arnow stamped with red ink upon them. That is not the issue involved."

"It is true that Mr. Arnow entered the race for senate against Mr. Vocelle as an independent candidate. There were good reasons but I will not bores you gentlemen with the details, for that isn't the subject under consideration. After these conditions arose in Camden county the people induced Mr. Arnow to run as an independent candidate. Camden county has no right to ram Vocelle down the throats of Glenn and Charleston counties.

"The returns from Glenn county which give Mr. Arnow a majority of more than 200 over Mr. Vocelle, are not involved in this contest and that should be proof conclusive that the people do not want Vocelle as their senator.

"If the ballots which bore Mr.
Arnow's name in red ink were illegal, I should like to know why the election managers saw fit to credit them to Vocelle instead of throwing them out completely. It was because of one reason as I see it, and that is, without these ballots cast for Arnow, the returns would have defeated Vocelle anyway and they were credited to him solely to defeat the rightful senator."

The report of the committee, which included Senator Boyce Picklin, Sr., chairman; J. C. Beauchamp, J. B. P. U. training school at their closing period.
DuRose, T. E. Green, J. A. Kennon,
E. R. King, L. S. Moore, W. W.
Mundy, P. A. Smith and W. R.
Hodges, will be transmitted to the senate at its session Friday morning.
A minority report signed by the three committee members opposed to the seating of Arnow, will be filed along with the favorable report of the committee.

Higginbotham's Two $1,000 Gifts Counsel Claims Made in Memory Witnesses Paid Of Gray Heroes

Lake City, Fla., June 28.—Defense counsel in the case of T. W. Higginbotham, charged with murder, Thursday claimed that state witnesses were being paid big rewards for testifying against their client.

G. Grimson, assistant attorney general of North Dakota, the home of Martin Tabert, who is alleged to have died from brutal beatings administered by Higginbotham, gave out a statement Thursday night stating that there was no shush fund raised in his state to assist in the prosecution of the case against Higginbotham, however, he said citizens did contribute to investigate conditions existing in Florida convict camps.

Judge McMillen, who is trying the case, in conversation with attorneys said that North Dakota did exactly right in sending a special counsel here.

It is expected that state's counsel will conclude its testimony Friday. The defense will have about 10 witnesses to examine.

Illness Prevents Appearance Here Of Mrs. W. H. Felton

Illness of Mrs. W. H. Felton, of Cartersville, prevented her from fulfilling her scheduled speaking engagement at the Third Baptist church here Thursday night. Postpone Discussion On Tax Revision Dated for Today

Postponement of the open forum tax discussion, scheduled to be held today at the call of the Georgia association, was announced Thursday by Secretary F. H. Abbott. The postponement was made at the request of several members of the legislature, who desired to attend, but whose legislative duties would have prevented them, stated Mr. Abbott. The purpose of the meeting is to secure public expression of the various interests of the state of their views on tax revision.

THE ORIGINAL WORCESTERSHIRE

The "Founders' Roll" offers an opportunity for individuals or family groups to perpetuate for all time, in the world's most unique and colossal memorial, the names of fathers, grandfathers, uncles, brothers or other relatives who fought beneath the Stars and Bars.

Work on Stone Mountain has been going forward steadily since the commencement of carving on June 18, when the figure of Robert E. Lee in the center of the central group, was started with ceremonies participated in by Governor Hardwick of Georgia, Governor Trinkle of Virginia and other notables.

Public interest in the memorial is steadily increasing, the executive committee stated, as evidenced by almost daily calls for speakers to address meetings. Robert E. Harvey, vice president and executive manager, addressed the women's branch of the chamber of commerce Tuesday evening and Gate City lodge of Masons Tuesday evening. Dave W. Webb, executive secretary, addressed the Columbus Admen's club on Tuesday and the laymen's league of the Unitarian church Wednesday evening.

GAINES PAYS TRIBUTE TO DANIEL C. O'KEEFE

An explanation of the junior high school's place in a system of public education and a tribute to Daniel Cornelius O'Keefe as the father of the Atlanta public school system were incorporated by W. W. Gaines, president of the board of education, in his address Thursday afternoon at the laying of the cornerstone of the O'Keefe Junior High school on Techwood drive.

Major Walter A. Sims and Dr. E. L. Connolly were other speakers at the exercises, which were in charge of the Masons, directed by Grand Master J. P. Bowdoin. Dr. Reid Hunter, assistant superintendent of schools, presided. On the platform with the speakers were three daughters of the man after whom the school is named, Mrs. Julia O'Keefe Nelson, member of the board of education; Mrs. Drury J. Powers and Mrs. Wallace Kirkpatrick.

Shows Opposition. Mr. Gaines recounted the opposition of prejudice and distrust that the pioneer workers for public schools, led by Dr. O'Keefe, had to overcome before they were finally established. Explaining the place of the Junior High school in the educational system, he said:

"We believe that in the institution of high schools we are taking every advanced and advantageous step in our school work."

"We have for a long time realized that there is too great a gap between the elementary or grammar schools as we have them, and the Senior High schools. The pupils leaving the grammar school have not been well prepared for the high school and the result has been a heavy number of failures in the first year of the high school, and in the case of those pupils who have not failed that first year in the high school has been too trying and too difficult. That first year has not represented a normal and satisfactory year's work for the majority of the pupils, so matter what pupil that pupil might have been. It has been too high for the new high school pupil. The transition from the grammar school has not been easy, nor natural nor proper."

The Junior High school will remove this difficulty. It is an intermediate school between the grammar school and the high school. Its course of study is arranged to meet the needs of pupils of that age and capacity. The pupil entering it from the grammar school will find the transition easy and natural. And the pupil leaving it and going to the Senior High school will find that transition easy and natural. The three schools, the grammar school, the Junior High school and the Senior High school just fit into one another. Together they offer one year more of school work than we now have; that will mean the enrichment of our course of study by just so much."

Not only that, but the three different types of schools, the grammar, the Junior High and the Senior High are all so arranged in their courses of study and of training that each can constitute a unit in itself. There has been such a shifting in text books and in studies that each one of the three will be a complete unit in itself. So that if a pupil is forced to leave school at the end of the grammar school or at the end of the Junior High school, he will have received the most complete and useful elementary education that could be devised. He would have studied those things and only those things which in his after life would be of most value to him as a man of an elementary education."

The Junior High school course is also made a completed unit in itself. Its course of study is intended to be that which would be most useful to the person who has been able to go through Junior High, but is not able to continue through Senior High. So each of these three types of schools is a practical unit."

And then, boys and girls of the Junior High age are different from boys and girls in the grammar schools and those in the Senior High schools—different in their sizes, capacities, desires, habits, friendships and social characteristics. They are in the early adolescent period of life. They need something different in training, environment and courses of study from those in the other two types of schools. And the Junior High school has been created to meet the peculiar needs of children of this particular age. And I believe we are going to find the plan of practical benefit to the school children of Atlanta."

W. S. Lewis, Alias Davis, Is Held by Police On Suspicion Charge

Believed by city detectives to be wanted in New Orleans, in connection with the theft of a large quantity of photographic materials, W. S. Lewis, alias "W. Davis," 26-year-old, is being held in the police barracks for investigation, following his arrest at a downtown hotel Thursday by Detectives J. Lewis Whitley and S. J. Cowan.

When arrested he is said to have had in his possession many express money orders made payable to Alex. E. Chalmers, and an investigation to determine how he got them is being made by detectives.

A quantity of cameras and developing substances was also reported to have been taken from Lewis' room at the hotel.

R. L. SLOAN GRANTED PAROLE BY GOVERNOR

R. L. Sloan, convicted of the murder of William Franklin, local peddler, in 1913, and sentenced to serve a life term in the chain gang was granted a parole by Governor Thomas W. Hardwick, Thursday, following a lengthy deliberation of the case.

Sloan began his life term in 1919 after attorneys had endeavored to obtain a commutation of sentence for six years. He was found guilty of murdering Franklin on Decatur street and sentenced in Fulton superior court to be hanged, this sentence later being changed to life imprisonment.

A statement from Newport A. Lanford, former chief of detectives in Atlanta, expressing the belief that another man had killed Franklin, was submitted to the governor by Attorney John S. Highsmith, who had constantly been active in behalf of obtaining a parole for his client.

Scenic Highway Directors Plan Early Meeting

Leaders in the Nacoochee-Hiwassee Scenic Highway association expect to call an early session of the executive committee at which time a time and place for a meeting of the board of directors will be selected.

"Formation of the association is progressing rapidly," Bonnell H. Stone, secretary, stated. "Great interest is being shown. To date we have received acceptances from more than half of the fifty directors who were elected. Pledges of co-operation and support for developing this wonderful mountain region into a playground and health resort for the south are coming in almost every mail."

Plans are now being made for clearing the right of way. Actual construction on project No. 1, through Unicoi gap, will be begun in August, it is expected.

Among those who have agreed to serve as directors are Governor-elect Clifford Walker, Senators Walter F. George and William J. Harris, Robert McMillan, solicitor general of the northeastern circuit; John Holder, chairman of the state highway commission; John M. Johnson, assistant U. S. attorney of the northeastern district of Georgia; Sam W. Wilkes, publicity agent of the Georgia railroad; P. S. Arkwright, president of Georgia Railway and Power company; Mrs. James E. Hays, president Georgia Federation of Women's Clubs; Congressman Thomas M. Bell and Congressman Gordon Lee; W. E. Candler and Pat Harrison, of Blairsville; Dr. J. A. Sharp and Dr. Ash, of Dahlonega; and John More, board of roads and revenue, Dahlonega; Turner Quillian, of Brookton; Mrs. Ross M. McConnell, of Gainesville; W. A. White, of Helen; J. B. Gray and W. The new "FRANCONIA"

A great, new, twin-screw, turbine steamer, introducing—true to Cunard tradition—many novel and progressive ideas in construction and equipment.

Superb, spacious public rooms—models of refinement and good taste; exquisite bedrooms, with bedsteads, hot and cold running water and private bathrooms—make the FRANCONIA stand out as an illustrious member of the famous Cunard fleet.

She is especially the ship for those who love sports and are fond of physical exercise; they will delight in the FRANCONIA'S athletic equipment—her squash racquet court; her enormous and luxurious swimming pool; her electric rays bath; her well-equipped gymnasium—all part of a great Athletic Arena extending upward through two decks and occupying the whole width of the steamer.

church. The hour of the funeral had not been announced early today. The body will be interred here.

General Booth was 79 years old. He was injured seven weeks ago when he tripped and fell, breaking a knee cap. His condition became serious three weeks ago, and he was removed from his home to a hospital, where double pneumonia developed, from which he died.

He is survived by his widow and one son and a daughter, all of New Orleans.

General Booth was appointed adjutant general and chief of staff of the Confederate Veterans by General W. K. Hallenman, of Louisville, Ky., who was elected commander-in-chief at the veterans' reunion here last May. He was a Mason, belonged to various fraternal organizations and was a member of the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan. A delegation from the Klan organization will attend the funeral, but aside from that, it is said no special services have been planned.

General Booth was born May 4, 1854, near Georgetown, Ky., and came to Louisiana with his parents when he was 4 years old.

At the beginning of the civil war he was attached to the third Louisiana infantry. He participated in battles at Oak Hill and Elkhorn Tavern, Mo., and in engagements along the Yazoo river in Mississippi.

He was taken prisoner at the siege of Vicksburg; was paroled and with other exchanged prisoners organized a company that became part of the Twenty-second Louisiana infantry. He was again captured in east Louisiana and taken to Vicksburg and paroled there about the close of the war. General Booth came to New Orleans in 1881 from Hope Villa, La., where he had been engaged in business since the ending of the war.

Clever Minstrel Show Tonight For Disabled War Veterans

OF COMMERCE
&
AMERICAN LEGION MINSTREL FOR THE BENEFIT OF DISABLED SOLDIERS
ATLANTA THEATRE
JUNE 29 & 30

Last night saw the final touches put to "Minstrelsy de Luxe" in a dress rehearsal at the Atlanta theatre, and Bill Lowe, manager-producer, says when the curtain goes up on the first performance tonight the audience will be treated to a real minstrel show.

Lucian York, Atlanta's minstrel comissaire, witnessed Wednesday night's rehearsal and set his seal of approval on several of the numbers.

Bert Flynn certainly plays the famous Bert Swor a close second in a burnt cork skit which he and Ed Floyd perform with an adeptness that leads one to believe he has stood back of the footlights before.

The "Dance of the Nations," the first act in the show, is not only a very pretty dance, but eight of Atlanta's most beautiful girls costumed to represent the country whose dance she interprets, add charm to the performance and give a good send-off to an evening chock full of fun.

For weeks the Junior Chamber of Commerce and American Legion have been practicing "Minstrelsy de Luxe." Some of Atlanta's most clever amateur talent is in the show, and it is far above the average amateur performance.

The program is replete with dancing and music, and there is not a dull moment throughout the evening.

Miss Catherine Jones is directing the dancing and Alfred Gane is the musical director. Miss Jones and Lester Nicholas will appear in a pretty dance act.

The curtain goes up at 8:15 and everybody is urged to be seated by this time. Tickets for the show are on sale at the box office of the Atlanta theatre and at Cable Piano company. The public is urged to attend "Minstrelsy de Luxe" and help the boys to aid the disabled veterans.

Higher education among the youth of the state.

Amounts to Be Asked.
As the result of Wednesday's conference, the various institutions plan to ask the legislature for the following annual maintenance appropriations for the next two-year period:

University of Georgia—$160,000, including summer school, which is an increase of $75,000 over the present appropriation.

Georgia School of Technology—$150,000, an increase of $35,500.

State College of Agriculture—$55,000 and extension funds, an increase of $55,000.

Georgia State College for Women at Milledgeville—No request; the present maintenance appropriation is $30,000.

North Georgia Agricultural college—$25,000, an increase of $5,500.

State Normal and Industrial college at Bowdon—$25,000, an increase of $10,000.

Georgia Medical college at Augusta—$74,500, an increase of $25,000.

State Normal School at Athens—$100,000, an increase of $37,000.

Georgia State Woman's college at Valdosta—$20,000, an increase of $18,500. Also a deficiency appropriation of $10,000.

$275,000 Increase Sought.

The twelve district agricultural and mechanical schools were not represented at the conference, but it is believed no increase will be asked in their appropriations of $15,000 per year each.

Attending the conference were Dr. M. L. Brittain, president of Georgia Tech; Dr. David C. Barrow, chancellor of the University of Georgia; Judge Enoch Callaway, chairman of the board of trustees of the Georgia Medical college at Augusta; Dr. R. H. Powell, president of the Georgia State Woman's college at Valdosta; Dr. M. D. DuBose, president of the North Georgia Agricultural college at Dahlonega; Dr. George W. Camp, president of the State Normal and Industrial college at Bowdon, and Dr. M. M. Parks, president of the State College for Women at Milledgeville, and also state superintendent of schools.

Herbert Porter was formerly installed as president of the Advertising club of Atlanta, at a meeting held Thursday noon in the chamber of commerce dining hall. Fred Wilson, advertising manager of Davidson & Stokes, was installed as first vice president; Carolyn Thomas, the first woman member of the club ever to hold office, second vice president; and Warren H. Ross, of the Central of Georgia Railway, sergeant at arms. These officers were elected at a meeting several weeks ago.

Winston Harvey, Dewey W. Welch, Leroy Rogers, W. B. Crosby, Mr. Daisy E. Bagwell and Buford Goodmen, were installed as board of directors.

One of the most important features of Thursday's meeting was the suggestion that a "30" club be organized among the members of the local. These thirty members will formulate arrangements for Atlantans to attend the convention of the advertising clubs of the world to be held in London during June of next year.

A number of reports and short addresses were made. Letroy Rogers, retiring first vice president, presided in the absence of retiring President Winston Harvey.

PRESENT TOKENS OF APPRECIATION

Mrs. Carl Dick, Mrs. A. F. Lively, and Mrs. Margaret Murphy, winners of the first, second and third prizes respectively for selling poppies on May 30, were presented with loving cups, suitably engraved, by Greater Atlanta Post No. 399 Veterans of Foreign Wars at the chamber of commerce Thursday night.

Commander Oley B. Mitchell, of the local post, presented an interesting program for the event.

Kappa Sigma Fraternity Men In Conclave Here

Delegates from 90 out of 94 chapters were present at the opening of the twenty-fifth biennial convention of the Kappa Sigma fraternity here Thursday morning at the Ansley hotel. After addresses of welcome had been made by Ed L. Sutton, of Atlanta, and Joe Bennett, of University of Georgia, and had been responded to by Beverly W. Howe, of Lincoln, Neb., the morning business session, in which the roll of chapters was called and committees were appointed, got under way.

In the afternoon business session the committee met to discuss plans. A barbecue and a tea-dance was held for the delegates at the East Lake country club in the afternoon.

Friday's program includes a morning business session, a trip to Stone Mountain in the afternoon, and a dinner and dance at the Druid Hills Golf club in the evening.

Officers of the national chapter in attendance are: Worthy Grand Master, J. S. Lanson; Worthy Grand Master of Ceremonies, Verne Hedge; Worthy Grand Treasurer, B. W. Howe; Worthy Grand Scribe, J. S. Ferguson; and Worthy Grand Treasurer, G. R. Ren.

The committee of the local chapter in charge is composed of Horace Russell, A. H. Edson, P. S. Stevens, Bernard Neal, Welburne Cady, A. S. Baugh and W. L. Beyer, Jr.

PROGRAM PLANNED BY FOOTWARMERS

A program full of good music and real negro dialect stories in the form of monologues is promised listeners to Station WGM, The Atlanta Constitution, at 6 o'clock this evening. All of the music will be of the popular type, which is generally featured at the early broadcast in the evening from the south's Old Reliable station.

Presiding for the musical part of the program will be the Footwarmers orchestra, which is heard at regular intervals from Station WGM. The Footwarmers are coming more and more into prominence and their music is some of the best to be had for dances.

The Footwarmers always please WGM enthusiasts and tonight they will present some of their latest hits. The remainder of the program will be furnished by Joe Elliott. Mr. Elliott is well known as a black-face comedian and is now appearing at the Vaudeville theater. He will fill in between the orchestra numbers with his side-splitting negro dialect stories and monologues.

One by one, the Florida sheriffs are being fired from their whipping posts—Vinegar Pilot.

RADIO DEPARTMENT

MISS HAUFF WILL BE HEARD TODAY

Sensational Dramatic Soprano to Sing on Program Sponsored by Mrs. Maddux.

TO DETAIL GAME.

While Station WGM customarily devotes its entire 3 o'clock period to baseball details when Atlanta is playing double-header games away from home, word of the double-header at Mobile today was not received until after a beautiful program had been arranged for the early period today. In view of the type of program set for this afternoon, it will not be cancelled, and the first game in the double-header will be detailed between musical selections.

Miss Maddalena Hauff, sensational dramatic soprano, who is visiting in Atlanta for a few weeks, will be heard again from Station WGM, The Atlanta Constitution, between 3 and 4 o'clock this afternoon. In addition to singing several numbers, Miss Hauff will play the piano accompaniment for several violin selections by Dineen McCormack, a young violinist who has obtained wide recognition in Atlanta musical circles.

Miss Hauff comes to Station WGM this time on a program that is to be sponsored by Mrs. Charles Maddux, a dramatic soprano, who has become a favorite entertainer with listeners to the Old Reliable Station of the South. Miss Hauff is studying for opera under the direction of the noted maestro, Fucito, and will return to her studies in a short time.

This afternoon will mark the first time that McCormack has been heard by radio.

With these artists will be Miss Saeve Yarbrough, of Sparta, Ga., a piano soloist of unusual talent, who will contribute several selections to the concert.

WALKER TO OPEN CAPITOL SERVICE

Everything in Readiness for Legislative Broadcasts From Constitution Station.

All apparatus has been installed at the state capitol and is in readiness for the beginning Saturday morning at eleven o'clock of broadcasts by station WGM, The Atlanta Constitution, of the Georgia legislature's deliberations.

When station WGM signs on the air at 11 o'clock Saturday morning for the legislative broadcast it will mark a new step forward in radio activity for this will be the first time that the deliberations of a legislative body have been broadcast.

Promptly at eleven o'clock The Constitution will make the announcement to thousands that the first talk to be heard from the Georgia capitol will be Governor-elect Clifford Walker's inaugural address.

Thousands of Georgians and others beyond the boundaries of the state will hear the new governor's first official utterance.

Each day after Saturday, The Constitution will continue the broadcast from the legislature, bringing the southeast into closer touch than ever before with happenings of state.

Senator George Will Be Heard At Six O'Clock

Another name will be added Friday to the already long list of prominent men who have selected station WGM, The Atlanta Constitution, as a medium of expression while in Atlanta.

Tonight on the six o'clock broadcast The Constitution will present a short address by Senator Walter F. George, who is in Atlanta on a short trip from Washington. Senator George will discuss national politics briefly in his talk.

Senator George's name is now added to the list which includes Hudson Maxim, scientist; Senator William J. Harris, D. R. Carson and scores of others prominent in business, scientific and political quarters who have been heard from Station WGM.

GIFTS THAT LAST

Talented WGM Artists

Three talented artists of Station WGM are shown in the pictures above. They are, reading from left to right: Miss Myrtle Crossland, soprano, and Miss Edna Bauknight and Miss Marjorie Hunt, pianists.

Stage Set for Long Minstrels Broadcast

Broadcasting by relay from the Atlanta Theatre, Station WGM, The Atlanta Constitution, from 8 to 10:45 o'clock tonight, will give its listeners one of the biggest treats recently offered by radio.

Every word and every note of the Junior Chamber of Commerce minstrels to be given Friday and Saturday nights at the Atlanta theatre will be sent burbling through the ether to-night, beginning at 8 o'clock, to unnumbered thousands of heads and loud speakers all over the country.

Proper equipment has already been installed by Chief Operator A. W. Shropshire in the Atlanta theatre for getting the best results in the relay to The Constitution building. It required a great deal of testing and fine work to obtain the best results from the theater, but now all is in readiness for the broadcast, which is to last nearly three hours.

Some of Atlanta's best known and most talented minstrel entertainers are taking part in the minstrels to-night and Saturday night. The entire proceeds of the minstrels, given by Junior Chamber of Commerce, with the assistance of the American Legion, will be turned over to United States hospital, No. 48, veterans to help in their rehabilitation.

At 8 o'clock tonight turn on your radio sets, listeners, for it will mean that you will get one of the best entertainments of its kind given recently in Atlanta and the transmission promises to eclipse anything else given so far in relay broadcasting.

First Swimming Lesson Is Given By Miss Savell

The first of a series of lessons in swimming was given on the 6 o'clock broadcast from Station WGM by Miss Pearl Fairfax Savell, a noted swimmer herself and active in Red Cross life saving corps work.

Last evening Miss Savell discussed breathing as it affects swimming. Miss Savell will prepare another article for next Thursday evening, taking up in it a few of the better known strokes.

MISS CROSSLAND GIVES PROGRAM

Charming Soprano Sponsors Concert Presenting Excellent Vocalists and Instrumentalists.

In the program broadcast last night between 9:30 and 10:45 o'clock under the direction of Miss Myrtle Crossland, soprano, listeners to station WGM were given a concert that included excellent talent.

With Miss Crossland on the program were Miss Frankie Del Sasser, pianist; Miss Julia Napier, pianist; Miss Thelma Marbut, dramatic soprano; Mrs. G. T. Lucas, pianist; Miss Edith Brown, pianist; William F. Talley, baritone and Vaughn Osmer, tenor.

Miss Crossland took the leading part in this splendid program, but hardly surpassed the artists associated with her. Miss Crossland's numbers "No One Knows," "Sunrise and Sunset," "The Raggedy Man," "A Little Girl's Prayer," and "Call Me Back, Pal o' Mine."

Miss Marbut, Miss Napier and Miss Brown made their radio debut from station WGM in last night's concert, but their numbers were given in such a manner that enthusiasts called repeatedly, asking that they make a return engagement for WGM.

All of the others on the program have been heard before. Miss Sasser probably is the best known of these, as she has accompanied Miss Crossland at each appearance of the latter before The Constitution's microphone.

Mr. Talley and Mr. Osmer made excellent impressions in their selections last night and will return soon to WGM with Miss Crossland.

Three O'Clock Program Given By Mrs. Neri

An hour of delightful entertainment was given between 3 and 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon from station WGM under the direction of Mrs. Ward M. Neri, assisted by Miss Dorothy Lawshe and Little Miss Jeanette Nichols.

Mrs. Neri, soprano, sang as her part of the program, "Dearest," "Do You, Will You, Won't You Love Me Too," "Sing Me to Sleep," "Sunset Land," and "Call Me Back, Pal o' Mine."

Miss Lawshe, in addition to playing all of the piano accompaniments for Mrs. Neri, gave the following piano solos: "Petit Bolero," and "Minuet" by Paderewski.

Little Miss Nichols, a charming little reader, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. Guy Nichols, and gave as her selections, "The Raggedy Man," "A Shoot, Ma," and "A Little Girl's Prayer."

GREAT SURPRISE WEDNESDAY NIGHT

Array of Talented Artists Give Concert That Lasts From Midnight to Nearly 2 A. M.

Listeners to Station WGM, The Atlanta Constitution, at midnight Wednesday were given one of the biggest surprises by an assembly of talent in WGM's studio unequalled in recent months.

The program, scheduled to end at 1 o'clock, ran until 1:45 o'clock, and every minute was filled with the best kind of musical entertainment, featuring the chief executive complained particularly of the conditions in the locality of Auburn avenue and Butler street.

The men of my department have already been instructed to be particularly vigilant in the enforcement of the prohibitions laws, especially in view of the approaching Elks' convention and rumors that large cargoes of whiskeys are being brought to Atlanta for sale at that time," Chief Beavers stated.

Chief Beavers added that he appreciated the information the mayor had given him concerning a special section where the mayor had received information bootleggers were particularly active, and stated that he invited such information from all parties having knowledge of the illegal sale of whisky, or other lawlessness.

With the Footwarmers on the program were Miss Olive Walker, dramatic soprano, and jazz singer; Mrs. Marie Forrester, pianist; Miss Evelyn Youngblood, contralto; Ralph Richardson, tenor; Arthur Jones and Nick Nicholas, vocalists; Ed Floyd, tenor; Bert Flynn, burnt cork comedian, and W. Weston Smith, troupe leader of the Bowling-Smith orchestra.

Miss Walker gave "A Dream" by Bartlett; "Who's Sorry Now," "Louisville Lou," and "My Buddy." Miss Youngblood was heard in "Araguayana" and "On the Banks of the Brandywine."

All of the other numbers were jazz selections that rounded the program into one of WGM's big successes.

Enthusiastic Recruit Would Sign in Marines For Ten-Year Spell

There must be something interesting in the life of a marine, for James N. Murray, of Columbus, Ga., but more lately of the U. S. S. Florida, tried to sign up for ten years in the United States marines at their local recruiting station in the Federal building, Thursday, and had Captain George Bower, recruiting officer, guessing as to whether he could enlist him for that term instead of the regular three or four years' enlistment period.

It all came about when Sergeant Griffin Hamilton, examining sergeant, asked the Georgian as to the term he desired to enlist for.

"Ten years," replied Murray. The sergeant looked at Captain Bower, and the marine officer asked the applicant why he desired to enlist for that length of service instead of the regular three or four years.

He stated that it was because he had found life out of the service unbearable and that he wanted to get back with "the boys."

Finally Private Murray signed for four years, after Captain Bower had delved into the book on recruiting regulations.

"That salesgirl is a failure at hats. Has no enthusiasm." She is so cold. "Maybe that atmosphere would help among the refrigerators."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Whisky Peddlers Object of Drive By Local Police

A drive on whisky peddlers, especially in the vicinity of Auburn avenue and Butler street, was put under way by Police Chief James L. Beavers, following a telephone call Thursday from Mayor Walter A. Sims, in which the chief executive complained particularly of the conditions in the locality of Auburn avenue and Butler street.

The men of my department have already been instructed to be particularly vigilant in the enforcement of the prohibitions laws, especially in view of the approaching Elks' convention and rumors that large cargoes of whiskeys are being brought to Atlanta for sale at that time," Chief Beavers stated.

Chief Beavers added that he appreciated the information the mayor had given him concerning a special section where the mayor had received information bootleggers were particularly active, and stated that he invited such information from all parties having knowledge of the illegal sale of whisky, or other lawlessness.

Hudson and Essex Distributors to Meet In Atlanta Today

Hudson and Essex distributors in the southeast will meet their general sales manager, Harry G. Mook, in Atlanta today for a short sales conference. The meeting will be held at the Wineoff hotel.

Mr. Mook is well known in Atlanta, having visited here several times when general manager of the National Automobile Dealers association. J. W. Goldsmith, Jr., president of the Georgia Hudson and Essex distributing organization, stated Thursday that Mr. Mook would be in Atlanta only a short time, and that the conference would be limited to an informal business meeting.

Approximately sixty out-of-town dealers are expected to meet Mr. Mook, who will represent the Mr. Goldsmith's organization, the Porter-Mineham Co., and the Beal-Watkins Motor company, local Hudson and Essex retail dealer organizations.

Boys' High School Work Continues Despite Shortage of Funds

In spite of the possibility that a shortage of funds in the hands of the city bond commission may force cessation of work on the new Boys' High school before it is completed, work is continuing on the new structure for the present and Mayor Walter A. Sims Thursday afternoon signed the second check to pay for materials for use in it. The check was for $6,259.94 payable to the Southern Ferro-concrete company.

A way out of the existing financial stringency is to be sought at a joint meeting of the school and finance committees of the bond commission some time this month. The commission has in hand and in prospect approximately a half million dollars less than the school program requires.

'Queen of the Blues' Sings Here Tonight In 'Midnight Frolic'

Haunting southern "blues" sung by Bessie Smith, will be presented for the first time for white people in the "midnight frolic" at Eighty-One theater, Decatur street, tonight commencing at 11 o'clock. Bessie Smith will be the headliner of a vaudeville made up solely of negro talent.

In the list of numbers to be offered will be hits in which she made her greatest fame, as well as the newest "rag" offerings. She will add a bit to the offering of "blues" by stepping back into the jazz days when the "shimmy" first became famous. Her rendition of the favorites of this type is little short of wonderful, it is claimed.

Other stars of the colored stage will also appear, in addition to Bessie Smith. One of these is a roiling and novel singer who has been a tremendous sensation in other cities.

FLIERS RE-FUEL FOR THIRD TIME IN RECORD FLIGHT

San Diego, Cal., June 28.—Capt. Lowell Smith and Lieut. John Richter, Rockwell aviation officers, who began a second attempt to set an airplane marathon record here at 4:45 o'clock this morning, refueled while in flight, for the third time today at 7 p. m. They expect to continue the flight through the night without further fuel.

CRACKERS AND BEARS RAILED OUT IN FIRST GAME

Turner Barber Is Expected To Report Back to Locals Soon; Killinger Still Out

Fight for Third Place Will Be Waged During Series, as Mobile Is Only Game and Half in Front of Locals.

Mobile, Ala., June 28.—Rain followed the Crackers from New Orleans to Mobile and the first game of the series scheduled for this afternoon was postponed.

The rain lasted all the afternoon and there was not a chance for the contest. The team did not even get any batting practice, so bad was the condition of the Mobile diamond.

One game of ball will be played tomorrow and a double bill Saturday. The twin bill is expected to increase the number of cash customers, as Saturday is a half holiday in this city.

Manager Miller reported that his team was in good shape and that he expected to get back into a winning stride in the Mobile series.

He announced that Barber would join him at most any time and may come to this city before the series is over. Miller stated that Killinger was due to be in the games on July 4 at Atlanta.

Nielhaus will work for the Crackers tomorrow against the Mobile club, while the visitors will have to face Charles Fulton.

Miller blames the loss of the games at New Orleans in part to umpire troubles with Brennan and Jorda. He says that when four men were put out of the game the team was a bit upset, but are once more set again.

Fines amounting to a total of $75 were assessed against Miller, Yockey, Herman and Dumont.

The Bruins are a game and a half ahead of the Crackers and there is much interest locally in this battle for third place in the standing of clubs.

EX-PRIZE FIGHTER DIES AT SAVANNAH
Savannah, Ga., June 28.—Mystery surrounds the death of Tom Corcoran, an ex-prize fighter, who died this morning at 8 o'clock while on the way to a hospital.

Corcoran was found this morning in an unconscious condition with a bleeding wound in his leg. An investigation, including a coroner's inquest, is to be made.

Corcoran, 25 years of age, was one of the best known fighters in this section. Some years ago he lost a leg in an accident and since has been doing work as a watchman at various plants.

HARTZELL IN GREAT FORM Miss Stirling Reaches Semi-Finals at Buffalo

By M. D. OLESON.

The Royal and the Commercial Union teams of the Insurance league were in the midst of a hot game at Piedmont Park yesterday when the clouds began leaking very badly at the beginning of the seventh inning, with the score 3 to 0 in favor of the Royals.

From the way Hartzell was mowing them down the Commercial Union batters, they did not stand much of a chance to win, but as far as the game went and struck out 8 men in 6 innings.

The Royals have not lost a game this year and are tied with Dargan & Turner for the lead.

Mrs. Robinson and Mrs. Lowndes Win Matches in Consolation Flights; Mrs. Lowndes Gets 39.

Buffalo, N. Y., June 28.—Prediction that Miss Alexa Stirling, of the New Hampstead Country club, would meet Glenna Collett, of the Rhode Island Country club, Providence, in the final of the annual women's invitation golf tournament of the Buffalo Country club, was made by those who followed play in the third round today.

Those two, present and past holders of national championship honors, won their way to the semi-finals with Ada MacKenzie, of Toronto, and Anita Lihme, of Chicago, in a day of superb playing.

The semi-finals will not be a walkover, however, for Miss MacKenzie is a former dominion champion and Miss Lihme's defeat of F. C. Jettis, Jr., another Chicago player, on the 20th green today, stamped her as a possible dark horse who may upset the predictions of golfers.

Miss Stirling is paired with Miss MacKenzie and Miss Collett with Miss Lihme for the semi-finals tomorrow.

In defeating Mrs. Arnold Jackson

today Miss Stirling met with her stiffest opposition in the tournament. The metropolitan champion did the outward journey in 39, reaching the turn with a card of 2 up against her opponent. Coming in she faltered momentarily at the tenth but steadied and the match was won on the 15th hole.

Miss Collett's defeat of Dorothy Higbie, of Chicago, developed only mediocre play.

The source: Alexa Stirling, New York, defeated Mrs. Arnold Jackson, Greenwich, Conn., 4 and 3.

Ada MacKenzie, Toronto, defeated Mrs. Melvin Jones, Chicago, 3 and 1. Anita Lihme, Chicago, defeated Mrs. F. C. Jettis, Jr., Chicago, 1 up (20 holes).

Glenna Collett, Providence, defeated Dorothy Higbie, Chicago, 6 and 5.

Other Atlantans Win.
—Buffalo, N. Y., June 28.—(Special.)—Although Atlanta's chances, Mrs. L. J. Robinson and Mrs. Dargan, are out of the running, the southern city is keenly interested in the progress of Miss Alexa Stirling, who advanced to the semi-final through her victory over Mrs. H. Arnold Jackson and will oppose Miss Ada MacKenzie of Canada.

Miss Stirling was out in 39 and had Mrs. Jackson's three down. Her four on the 400-yard eleventh was a fine bit of golf. The cards follow: Miss Stirling: 39 45 64—39

Out. 553 554 644—39
In. 745 574

Mrs. Jackson: 554 554 644—41
Out. 655 563
In. 655 563

Playing in the beaten sixteen of the championship flight Mrs. Robinson defeated Mrs. S. R. Small, Detroit, on the eighteenth hole. When the ninth hole was finished that Atlanta star found herself two down, but by accurate iron play and deadly putting she managed to reach the eighteenth tee one up and maintained that position by halving the 355-yard eighteenth in five.

Mrs. Robinson: 574 654 763—47
Out. 765 671 535—47—94
In. 655 563

Mrs. Lowndes entered the finals by defeating Mrs. W. L. McQueen, of Rochester. The match ended on the fifteenth green, four and three.

Mrs. Lowndes, with a birdie two on the third, birdie four on the fourth and sixth went out in 39, in spite of her five on the short par three ninth. Her card: 532 244 347—45—39
In. 532 244 347—45—39

MACON LOSES DOUBLE BILL.
Charlotte, N. C., June 28.—Charlotte took a double bill from Macon here today 20 to 7 in the first half and 5 to 4 in the second game. The first was a running match in which Charlotte outran the visitors. The second was more of a ball game and but for the fact that Newberry weakened in the final frames would have won his game.

The Macon boys are in bad shape. Manager Jim Coffey being confined to his bed in a local hotel and with only four pitchers for the five game series.

Men in Charge of Battle Are Expecting to Raise Final Installment Today

July 14 Is Being Mentioned as Date for Bout In Case Money Cannot Be Raised In Time for July 4.

Helena, Mont., June 28.—Rumors that world's heavyweight champion Jack Dempsey would not fight on July 4 were answered in a statement from Attorney-General Harbo today in which he declared that Dempsey and his manager, Mr. Kearns, would be held liable under the Montana law, if the fight was not held, and every dollar paid for tickets would be refunded.

The persistent rumor that Dempsey will not fight in Montana unless the last dollar of an unconscionable bargain is in his hands by July 2, if true, presupposes that the laws of Montana against obtaining money under false pretenses are impotent.

"The state of Montana is interested in seeing that its people are not defrauded," Mr. Kearns said. "Dempsey cannot continue to sit idly by, knowing as they have known that tickets were being sold, without rendering themselves blameworthy and culpable under our laws, unless every dollar is refunded the purchasers of tickets in event no contest takes place by reason of Dempsey's refusal to appear."

"Champions and their managers must obey the law the same as the most inconspicuous citizens."

Johnson said after the retirement of Tracy that he was in position to personally guarantee that the $100,000 due Dempsey would be paid when due and itemized a list of property which he said he would pledge if necessary, to make the payment. This property, he declared, had a value of $300,000, and is unencumbered.

This statement was repeated several times today by Johnson, with the assertion that he would draw upon his personal resources to put the fight over if that became necessary.

F. P. Cobb, of Guyser, Mont., a real estate dealer, offered Kearns a deed to a ranch in the Snow mountains, valued at $150,000, as a substitute for the $100,000 installment. The ranch is one of the show places of Montana and formerly was owned by R. A. Harlow, former railroad builder and now a resident of Washington. Kearns said he could not discuss any alteration in his contract with anybody except the promoters. Cobb said that if Kearns accepted the ranch he was satisfied he could make a satisfactory adjustment of the $100,000 due Dempsey after the gate receipts are in.

It was reported here that promoters were considering a plan to postpone the fight until July 14, but this could not be verified. Some hope was expressed tonight by certain of the officials that they would be successful in raising the final $100,000 within 24 hours and thus assure the fight.

Today was filled with rumors, contradictions, denials and evasions originating with various men identified with the promotion. Through it all Mayor Jim Johnson, of Shelby, treasurer of the fight, who has personally sunk a fortune of $150,000 in the venture, continued to make announcements that the fight would be held as scheduled and that Jack Kearns, manager of the heavyweight champion, would receive the $100,000 when due next Monday, if not before. Mayor Johnson, however, gave no indication of where he expected to raise the money or how, aside from saying that he was working on two or three different plans.

Early in the day, J. W. Speer, a state senator, and attorney for Johnson, announced that $50,000 had been assured by one individual to help make up the $100,000 installment. Speer declined to reveal the name of this individual, but it was understood that John O'Neill, a wealthy oil operator, and member of the American Rugby team that competed in the Olympic games of 1920, had agreed to furnish $50,000 of the amount to be raised.

O'Neill tonight emphatically denied that he had agreed to furnish the money.

CENTER HILL BATTLES EDGEWOOD SATURDAY
Manager Jason A. Tuggle of the Center Hill club announces that his team will play the strong Edgewood team at Almond Park Saturday.

These teams are rated as two of the strongest independent teams around Atlanta and a good game is in sight for those who go out to Almond Saturday.

The splendid playing of Center Hill this year is a source of pride to the people of that thriving community and the success and welfare of the club are of much interest to the people of that section.

HEAVY SPARRING PARTNERS SCARCE
New York, June 28.—Unusual activities in the heavyweight division this year has cleaned the boxing market of fighters of large dimensions and a cry for help has been sounded in nearby training camps.

Both Jess Willard, whose camp is at Yonkers, N. Y., and Luis Firpo, the Scotch American whose quarters were established Tuesday at Long Beach, N. Y., are short of human punching bags, probably because all available are at the camps of Dempsey and Gibbons in Montana.

PROBE OF HIGHWAY BOARD IS ORDERED

Thursday morning's sessions of the legislature, aside from the joint session of the two houses for the purpose of canvassing the vote for state highway department, was marked chiefly by passage of a resolution in the senate which provides for a special committee to investigate the state highway department.

The resolution was introduced by Senator Stephen Pace, of the thirty-first district, and it was passed unanimously. Senator Pace was the only member to speak on the subject, and he stated that he introduced the resolution neither as foe nor friend of the department, but simply in line with recent statements by Chairman John S. Holder to the effect that all work and records of the department are open to the full investigation, and in order to settle the serious charges that have been made and reiterated against the department.

Joint Committee.
The resolution provides for a joint investigation consisting of three members from the house and five from the senate, the house members to be chosen one from each congressional district and the senate members from widely separated parts of the state. It authorizes the committee to employ a stenographer and make a full probe.

There will be a joint session at 11 o'clock Friday, when Governor Hardwick's last message.

Two bills were introduced in the senate Thursday, one by Senator Pace for the repeal of the tax equalization bill and one by Senator W. Langford, of the fifteenth, for the levying of a state income tax.

Senator Langford's bill is a constitutional amendment and a referendum is attached to the bill. It provides that the state income tax shall not exceed five per cent and gives the tax payer credit for his ad valorem taxes, thus preventing double taxation.

Session in the House.
In the house, Thursday was devoted to routine matters and attempts to pass resolutions for a probe of the highway department. The same resolution, which later passed the senate, was first introduced in the house by Stewart, of Atkinson, but failed when objection was raised under the unanimous consent ruling. A similar resolution, introduced by another member, met a like fate.

Representative Bessie Kempton, of Fulton, had the honor of being the first woman member to introduce a resolution to the house, when her resolution under the name of the Chamber of Commerce in extending an invitation for the holding of the national democratic convention in Atlanta in 1924 was passed.

Miss Kempton was also the central figure in a sidelight of the session, when she received a beautiful basket of flowers, sent by friends in the Ninth Ward Civic club. The lady representative promptly gave these flowers to Speaker Neill, in a graceful little speech. In turn, Speaker Neill responded that, with Miss Kempton's consent, the flowers would be sent to the Confederate Soldiers' home, in care of the speaker's messenger, Bill Yopp, more generally known as "Ten Cent Bill."

Legislators Invited.
A letter from James A. Holloman, of the Constitution, was read to the house, extending cordial invitation to all members to attend the meeting in the Chamber of Commerce, Thursday night, for the purpose of advancing the cause of dairy farming, in memory of the great work done on this line by the late George Betts, of Ashburn, Ga., president of the Georgia association.

An invitation was also read from the Agona Sunday school class of the Baptist Tabernacle, inviting the members to meet with them on Sunday mornings while the legislature is in session.

Rev. J. H. Little, of the north Georgia Methodist conference, was named chaplain of the house Thursday and Mrs. Nita Braxton, of Jackson county, named postmistress.

The joint session of the two houses met at 11 o'clock in the house of representatives, opening business consisted of the reading of a contest in the race for the governorship, filed by H. Redinger Baylor, of Sans Souci Castle, Atlanta, Mr. Baylor

Clashed owing to his arrest on September 9 last by police in Columbus, Ga., and the indignity and subsequent indignity, he was robbed of at least $100,000.

Committee Is Named.
A special committee, consisting of Senators Stephen Pace and G. A. John and Representatives J. B. Moore, of Appling; E. F. Pop, of Walker, and W. R. Jones, of Meriwether, was appointed to hear this contest and report back within ten minutes.

They invited Mr. Baylor to meet with them and submit any evidence he might have, and, although Mr. Baylor was sitting in the gallery, the committee reported back that he failed to appear and they recommended that the contest be thrown out. This was done.

The committee to canvass the vote for state house officers consisted of Senators W. W. Mundy, of the thirty-eighth, and John Camp Davis, of the forty-second, and Representatives J. M. Mayo, Jr., of Mitchell; Frank A. Holden, of Clarke; Thomas F. Fleming, of Hancock; and Joseph B. Cumming, of Richmond. The consolidated vote showed as follows:

For governor, Clifford M. Walker, 77,125 votes.
For comptroller general, General William A. Wright, 77,125 votes.
For secretary of state, S. Guyt McLeod, 77,125 votes.
For state treasurer, W. A. Spear, 77,125 votes.
For attorney general, George M. Napier, 77,125 votes.

Tentative Program Made for Meeting Of Forty and Eight

A tentative program has been prepared for the annual promenade of La Societe des 40 Hommes et 8 Chevaux, to be held in Athens, July 2, 3 and 4.

Monday night there will be a meeting of the grand chemist executive committee. Tuesday night a business session for the adoption of constitution, election of officers and transaction of other business will be held; Wednesday night will be devoted to a grand promenade and initiation.

Among the state officers of La Societe are included the following: Atlanta: J. G. C. Bloodworth, Jr., grand chief de gare; David J. Meyerhardt, grand correspondent; Evan P. Howell, grand chemist; J. A. Banks, grand and commissaire intendante. Delegates and alternates to the grand promenade from the Atlanta venture are: John M. Slator, Jr.; Stephens Mitchell, Jr.; P. L. Knott; Foustie McWhorter, Jr.; R. C. Eve and Charles H. Cox.

The degree work at the grand promenade will be handled by a committee from Atlanta venture consisting of Ben C. Hogue, R. M. Cobb, Jr., and Archie Mitchell, under general supervision of Charles W. Cook, of Moultrie, grand coadjutor.

COOLER WEATHER SCHEDULED TODAY FOR ATLANTANS

Had C. F. von Heermann, local meteorologist, searched his book of weather forecasts from cover to cover, he could not have made a more welcome announcement than "cool weather." Due to waves from the northwest Atlanta is slated for a short season of cooler weather, than was the case earlier this week.

For the past several days Atlanta's populace has either been engaged in dodging persistent thundershowers or hunting shady spots to gain refuge from the torrid rays of a blazing sun could reach them only indirectly.

Mr. von Heermann also predicted that it would probably rain during Friday, Fair is the weather forecast from Washington for the state of Georgia.

WOMAN IDENTIFIES ALLEGED SLAYER OF PATROLMAN

Cleveland, Ohio, June 28.—John L. Whitfield, alleged slayer of Patrolman Dennis Griffin, of Cleveland, was identified tonight by Mrs. Agnes Briel as the man who borrowed a shovel from her on May 11, the day that the officer disappeared.

Whitfield, who had steadfastly denied that he knew anything about the shovel, admitted when confronted by the woman that he borrowed it for another man who buried Griffin's body. He refused to reveal the identity of this man.

Viewing the News By CLIFF WHEATLEY

Now that it is assured Harry Greb and Jeff Smith will fight here on July 13, "wise money," long silent because of the uncertainty of the project, is beginning to make its voice heard above the applause which followed the announcement that differences between the promoters and the Elks' convention board had been ironed out.

It is a distinct tribute to the match-making ability of Dr. P. L. Provano and his associates that "wise money" decrees no odds shall be given and none shall be asked. In these days of big pugilistic pots brewing in three different sections of the country, this situation is unique. Atlanta seems to have the most logical match in the lot.

Let's see if the statement is borne out by the "dope." Out near Shelby, Montana, Champion Jack Dempsey and Challenger Tom Gibbons are training for something that possibly will not go through. This bout is rapidly approaching the point where it may be known as the most colossal "bust" in the history of the pastime.

FIGHT OVERLOOKED BY "WISE MONEY."

The fight has already been overlooked by "wise money" and wise fans are likely to follow suit. We know of but one wager on the outcome of the Dempsey-Gibbons fray. A gambler asked six rounds and odds and received them. He admitted that the champion could end the fight any moment he (Dempsey) cared to. Simply didn't believe Jack would care to ring down the curtain before the seventh.

Willard and Firpo are being brought together for the purpose of finding an opponent for Dempsey. Rickard, the promoter, is not interested in the search. He has already picked his man. Firpo and Dempsey will battle later before the second largest crowd that ever witnessed a prize fight. If Willard were a serious obstacle to this international match he would not have been given a place in the "elimination" series. The New York fight has been made to appear close in the "smoking up" process. Rickard has a great system.

There is no such thing as picking a winner between Harry Greb and Jeff Smith. In previous bouts the argument could not be settled. Each has fought the best talent in the middleweight and light heavyweight divisions. Each has swept through to the top. Neither has slipped in any way. Both are champions, uncrowned because throne room occupants will have none of their game.

What grand opera is in the world of music, so rates a Greb-Smith fight in the kingdom of cauliflower ears and smashed noses. It is the most promising fight held in the south in more than 15 years.

WILSON AND PROTO IN TROUBLE.

Why is it that prize fighters and their managers go out of the way to offend the freight-paying public? What makes so many pugilists deliberately bite the hand that feeds them after they have spent years making themselves drawing cards in a community?

Sport observers have asked these questions before and will probably continue, for every day fighters ruin themselves by kicking up a row when there is no real necessity. Atlanta fans have liked "pugs," only to discard them after actions that could not be overlooked.

Birmingham tossed aside two fighters the other night that had played a part in the development of the sport in the Magic City, simply because two managers couldn't agree on a point that would have had little bearing on the result. Jimmy Proto and Claude Wilson are the fighters involved; Dave Evans and Tommy Tompkins, the managers.

The result of the misunderstanding is that hundreds of Birmingham fans were deprived of a fight they wanted to see; Proto, Evans, Wilson and Tompkins are barred from the Birmingham Athletic club's arena and the boxing game in Alabama was dealt a blow from which it will not recover for some time.

WHOLE ARGUMENT UNCALLED FOR.

The whole squabble was uncalled for. Tompkins, managing Wilson, announced that his boy would not fight if Evans was permitted to coach Proto. Evans replied that Proto would not enter the ring unless he (Evans) was given permission to talk to him as the fight progressed. Both were stubborn and the greatest crowd that had turned out in months at Birmingham passed out of the house.

Technically Tompkins was right. Boxing law says a fighter must wage his own battle, but this regulation is not carefully followed in other than commission cities. I can think of no manager who has done more coaching than Tommy, unless it is Walk Miller. "Pa" Stribling would run a good race in this respect, too. But Evans was correct also in asserting that Tompkins had no right to kick about something Tommy had done all his life.

It is a sorry mess. Birmingham is through with the whole shabang. Men who have the best interests of the sport at heart in Birmingham know that fandom has no respect for professional fighters who won't go through with an agreement. And how easily the unfortunate occurrence could have been avoided! The use of a little reasoning, a little tact, would have returned big dividends.

"BABE" HERMAN CAME FROM RED SOX.

The following has been received from W. E. McKenney, Powder Springs, Ga. Sir: Will you kindly tell me where the Crackers obtained "Babe" Herman? A friend and I were talking about the Crackers the other day and he asked me where "The Babe" came from. I thought he came from the Yanks, but my friend disagreed, declaring he came from the Boston Red Sox. We are leaving the argument up to you."

Mr. McKenney's friend is correct. Herman was sent to the Crackers by the Red Sox on optional agreement and still belongs to the Sox.

GA. SUMMER SCHOOL WINS

Athens, Ga., June 28.—(Special.)—Fred Sale for the summer school of University of Georgia defeated the Penna Athletic team of Atlanta here this afternoon in a basketball game. Sale pitched fine ball throughout the nine innings and was given inspiring support by his infield. Nolan Richardson at short, "Flash" Middlebrooks at third, and Young "Scrappy" Moore at first all contributed sparkling plays.

NEW CIRCUIT IS ORGANIZED

BY M. D. GLEASON.
The L. L. Wallace league was organized last night and consists of four clubs. This league is named in honor of L. L. Wallace, general manager of Atlanta's parks, and each team in the league is named after some prominent man that has contributed to the development of the Ninth ward.

Team No. 1 is called the Asa G. Carter team. Mr. Carter gave 63 acres to the city for a public park and playground in this ward. George Woodson is captain of this team and states he is going after the pennant right now.

Team No. 2 is called the Walter S. Sims team, in honor of Atlanta's mayor. Bill King is the field captain. Bill is an old ball player and knows how to get the best results from his boys. This team will bear watching.

L. C. Jennings Club.
Team No. 3 is called the L. C. Jennings club. Mr. Jennings is one of the Ninth ward's ablest civic leaders and aided in organizing this league. William Orgain will captain this team and has several well-known ballplayers of the Copenhill section in his lineup.

Team No. 4 is called the Rufus Vann club. Leonard Austin will pilot it through the season.

At the meeting Thursday night Rod Barron was elected president and a tentative schedule was worked out. It will be announced later.

All games of this league will be played at Candler park where Mr. Wallace will lay out the necessary ball grounds.

DR. NICOLSON SHOWS SLIGHT IMPROVEMENT

Dr. William Perrin Nicolson, Sr., prominent Atlanta physician, who has been ill for several weeks, was slightly improved last night.

While performing an operation recently, one of Dr. Nicolson's fingers was injured and he was unable to spread to all the fingers on the hand. He has been confined to his bed with a fever for two weeks.

STAND OF BRITAIN SURPRISE TO U. S.

ations. Even should other maritime powers take a different view and agree to the plan proposed by Mr. Hughes, it appears that the British refusal would go far toward preventing the curbing of the smuggling traffic, which it had been hoped would result from the negotiations.

Pending something more formal than the press reports of the foreign secretary's statements, officials at the department would not comment today on the situation as it now presents itself. There is every reason to believe, however, that high government officials gravely doubt whether congress would look favorably upon any plan to amend the Volstead act so as to permit sealed liquor stores of foreign ships to pass in and out of American territorial waters uninterrupted.

When Secretary Hughes proposed the double-barreled treaty plan to the maritime powers, it was said on authority that government officials saw only two methods by which a change in law could be made to permit ships and liquor in transit to move in American waters. One would be to ask congress to amend the enforcement act, and the other would be by exercise of the treaty making power, a duty ratified treaty giving all the force of law if put through subsequent to the passage of the act involved.

Offered as Solution.
The latter was the method that appealed to the administration as offering both the chance for an equitable arrangement with the maritime powers from which both they and the United States could benefit, and also for more prompt solution of the difficulties that would be possible through a purely legislative step.

There is no doubt that officials in Washington will be much interested in the chance for a maritime agreement advances in support of the announced purpose to reject the treaty plan. Until the substance of that argument comes to hand, however, it is not to be expected that any final decision will be reached as to whether further steps toward the same end would be desirable.

Liner Carries Full Stock.
New York, June 28.—A few hours after customs officials had broken the French government seals on the liner Suffren and removed 2,257 litres of wines that the liner Rochambeau arrived in port today from Havre with one of the biggest supplies of wet goods to come in since the treasury department ruling prohibiting the transportation of liquor over the three-mile limit.

The Rochambeau carried 172 bottles of cognac, 425 bottles of champagne, 275 bottles of fine wines, 3,680 bottles of table wines, 2,693 of crease wine, 102 bottles of liquors, 516 of rum and brandy and 50 barrels of beer.

The Canopic also arrived today with a varied supply under British seals, of approximately 75 gallons of liquors.

So far the seals on liquor in five vessels have been broken and their supplies taken. Action is awaited in the case of the ten other ships.

French line officials said they had received no word of any court action to be taken and that if a test case least desire for food, and when I did manage to force myself to eat a little something I had to go through awful suffering with a painful, burning feeling in my stomach and in my bowels. I kept losing weight all the time, my nerves were in such a shattered condition I often felt as if I were taking a dose of something to quiet them, and scarcely ever got any restful sleep.

were made it would be undertaken by government officials.

Birkenhead Aids Views.

London, June 28.—Lord Birkenhead, in the House of Lords today, calling attention to the seizure by the United States of liquor on British vessels at New York, asked what was the government's policy relative to the difficulty with which British shipping is confronted.

Lord Birkenhead said: "An imminent authority, (evidently meaning Mr. Lloyd George), has exhorted us to keep cool and let America make the great experiment in her own way without interference. I do not know that any of us has shown any inclination to examine the matter in any spirit but complete calmness, and it is generally recognized that no friendly and reasonable representation to the United States could fail to receive a friendly and reasonable response. Nobody in this country has the slightest intention or desire to make any criticism at all of the United States' domestic policy."

He passed to the legal aspect of the seizure, and expressed doubt as to whether a single competent lawyer in the United States has ever suspected that the Volstead act would lead to consequences such as had been brought about by the decision of the United States supreme court. A considerable school of international law, he said, considered that the British merchant ship carries its nationality with it. That is the case both in the United States and this country.

Make Test Case.

British shipping, continued Lord Birkenhead, had been advised to make a test case in the United States courts, but he failed to see the use of this as it was extremely unlikely that the decision of the supreme court would be reversed.

"Without one word of friendly discussion with the United States, are we not to help them, as they help us, we can not help them," asked Birkenhead, "and that they must hereafter only take liquor as far as the port of destination and return without liquor?"

He argued that it would be both unfortunate and unnecessary for the British government to pass over a policy of this kind without making a test case in the United States courts, but he failed to see the use of this as it was extremely unlikely that the decision of the supreme court would be reversed.

He hoped British diplomacy would ask the United States, in the exercise of the discretion which a majority of the judges of the supreme court of the United States had pointed out in this system, which while maintaining unimpaired the policy of law United States would at the same time relieve British shipping of a serious and unnecessary burden.

Birkenhead cited the pronouncement by the American government at the time of a diplomatic discussion with Spain preceding a very difficult period, "we do not question the right of every nation to prescribe conditions under which the vessels of their nations may be admitted to its ports, but nevertheless we pointed out that these conditions ought not to conflict with sea usages which regulate commercial intercourse between civilized nations."

When Secretary Hughes proposed the double-barreled treaty plan to the maritime powers, it was said on authority that government officials saw only two methods by which a change in law could be made to permit ships and liquor in transit to move in American waters. One would be to ask congress to amend the enforcement act, and the other would be by exercise of the treaty making power, a duty ratified treaty giving all the force of law if put through subsequent to the passage of the act involved.

CHAPTER XI A WILD DRIVE

Gloria was sitting beside the driver's seat when the other three reached the car. Andrews protested.

"We draw the back seat going home," he urged. "They had it on the way out. Come on!" And he grasped Gloria's arm, and she drew away from him.

"Not I!" she insisted. "I'm going to stay right here. Sit in the back seat with them if you want to—"

"Gloria, please, I'd never have suspected that you could spoil a party so completely," sputtered Mimi, scrambling into the back seat in a hurry.

"Not I!" she insisted. "I'm going to stay right here. Sit in the back seat with them if you want to—"

Andrews, muttering something about giving Gloria a thrill in spite of herself, was driving like mad. The car hurtled along the road like a crazy thing. Gloria clung to the side of the seat, not caring how fast they went, wishing that they would have an accident, that she'd be killed. What an easy way out of her difficulties!

"Going fast enough for you?" Andrews asked, turning to face her.

"Yes, almost!" she replied.

They topped a hill, and shot down the other side with a speed that reminded the girl of a ride she had once taken in a scenic railway. The moon had gone under a cloud; they were leaping forward through darkness.

Gloria began to be frightened, yet would not beg. Thorne Andrews' "I love you" was ringing in her ears. Let him go on—let him kill them all, what would it matter? She wouldn't care—she wouldn't mind anything now!

Yet when Andrews took one hand from the wheel and put his arm around her, she drew away, she minded that!

"Don't!" she exclaimed sharply, but her voice was swept away by the wind. He bent forward; she could not draw back any further. And then the car swerved, skidded with a sickening lurch, and there was a crash, a jangle of breaking glass, that seemed to come from another world.

Mangum-Gibson Nuptials Are Solemnized at Church

The marriage of Miss Mattie Duke Mangum to Ernest Cleveland Gibson was a lovely social event, taking place Thursday evening at 9 o'clock at the St. Paul Methodist church.

The Rev. H. L. Edmondson, pastor of the First Methodist church, performed the ceremony.

Church Decorations. The church was handsomely decorated with masses of palms and French flags, and marked the nuptials. Candelabra holding white tapers were placed about the altar.

Miss Ethel Meyer, organist, rendered a musical program during the ceremony.

The ushers were K. K. Kelly, J. K. Kelly, Henry Godfrey and Mark Kelly.

Captain R. G. Mangum, U. S. A.; Captain James E. Mangum and J. O. Mangum were the groomsmen.

Bridesmaids' Gowns. Entering the church together were bridesmaids, Misses Lottie Lettis, Maggie Solomon, who were beautifully gowned in chiffon over silver.

Miss Lettis wearing pink and Miss Solomon wearing orchid. They carried shower bouquets of gardenias and white streamers.

The matrons of honor, Mrs. R. N. Mangum and Mrs. J. Stewart Smith, also of the groom, also wore silver.

The bride wore a gown of black crepe and a mantilla of rare old lace.

The bride's gifts to her attendants were silver ornaments. The groom presented the groomsmen with gold pens.

Wedding Journey. Mr. and Mrs. Gibson left immediately after the reception for a two-day stay at Pass Christian, on the Gulf. They will be at home after July 15 at 2432 Cresswell street, Shreveport, La.

Among the out-of-town guests were: Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Duke, Palm Beach, Fla.; Captain and Mrs. Grant Mangum, Gatun, Panama; Captain James E. Mangum, O. R. C., Washington, D. C.; Mrs. J. T. Goodrum, New York; Mrs. E. M. Camp, Moreland; Mrs. J. Stewart Smith, Shreveport, La.; Mrs. E. A. Duke, Fairburn; Mrs. F. L. Gibson, Thomsville; Miss Katherine Gibson, Thomsville.

Pretty Wedding at Hogansville. A pretty wedding was that of Miss Mary Lou Denney to Mr. H. D. Miller, at the home of the bride's parents in Hogansville, Ga., Sunday, June 24 at 4 p. m.

The color scheme of white and green, completed in the living room.

The ceremony was performed, and the bride was escorted by her father, Mr. H. D. Miller, to the altar.

The bride wore a traveling suit, a small three-piece model of dark blue with accessories of gray.

Her gown was a corsage of bride's roses and valley lilies.

Miss Miller is a third daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Denney, of Hogansville, and is a most attractive and talented. She is a young lady of gentle and winning personality, and has a host of friends.

Mr. Miller is a member of a prominent family of Hogansville, Fla. He is well known and highly respected, both in business and fraternal circles, and is connected with Miller Garden Co. of Hogansville, Ga.

Miss Goldsmith Honors Bride At Luncheon

Mrs. Lauren Goldsmith, who before her recent marriage was Miss Margaret Lowe of Athens, was complimented with a lovely luncheon Thursday given by Miss Marian Goldsmith at the Piedmont Driving club.

The luncheon table was overlaid with cloth of patchwork and embroidery and held in the center a large silver basket of pink gladioli and lilies.

Surrounding the central decoration were silver candelabra holding white unshaded tapers and bouquets of pink and white bonbons.

Hand-painted cards marked the guests' place.

Mrs. Goldsmith was gowned in a summer model of canary georgette. Miss Goldsmith wore an imported luncheon gown, fashioned of black and white chiffon, gracefully draped.

Miss Richardson Is Honored. Miss Grace Bramlett entertained at a matinee party at the Forsyth theater Thursday afternoon, June 28, in honor of Miss Mattie Louise Richardson, a bride-elect of June.

The guests included Miss Mattie Louise Richardson, Miss Eloise Bramlett, Miss Lydia Lee Morgan, Miss Roberta Stallings, Mrs. Banks and Miss Grace Bramlett.

Prominent Young Couple Wed At Home in Fairburn

A wedding of marked simplicity and beauty was that of Miss Grace Hanson and J. Wilson Parker, which was solemnized at 3 o'clock on Thursday afternoon, June 28, at the home of the bride in Fairburn, Ga.

The ceremony was performed in the living room before an improvised altar of ferns, pink hydrangeas and lilies of the valley.

Immediately after the ceremony they left for New Orleans, where they will spend their honeymoon.

Prominent Couple. Mrs. Parker is a social belle of Fairburn and is descended from a well-known family.

Mr. Parker is a member of the law firm of Camp & Parker, editor of the Campbell News and prominent in school, church, and fraternal circles, being secretary-treasurer of the city board of education, the board of stewards and worshipful master of the Fairburn Masonic lodge.

After July 5, Mr. and Mrs. Parker will be at home to their friends on Campbellton street.

This luncheon will be a compliment from her Atlanta friends who will wish her success, and offer support, in her candidacy for the general presidential office.

Miss Alice Baxter, former state president of the Georgia division, is in charge of arrangements.

Mrs. Harrold has just returned from Jackson, Ga., where she has been the guest of the Children of the Confederacy for a number of days.

Judge Hutcheson Will Speak. The DeKalb County League of Women Voters will hear Judge John B. Hutcheson discuss state courts at the meeting Friday, June 29, at 2 o'clock in the grand jury room at the courthouse.

Miss Noles Returns To Indiana Home. Miss Mabel Noles, of Jeffersonville, Ind., who has spent several years in Atlanta, has returned to her home in Indiana. During her stay here she has been active in Sunday school and church work at the Baptist Tabernacle and has made many friends who regret her leaving.

Miss Noles was entertained informally at a number of social affairs and was the recipient of many handsome gifts from her friends.

Capital City Club Gives Dance On Roof Garden

The Thursday evening dinner-dances on the roof garden of the Capital City club are proving to be popular social events for the club members and their friends during the hot summer months.

A large company gathered on the cool, moonlit roof garden Thursday evening for dinner and the dancing which followed.

Baskets of gladioli adorned the tables which were placed around the dance space.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Thornton, Sr., entertained one of the largest parties of the evening in honor of Captain and Mrs. Howell Woodward, of Panama.

Dining with Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Merriam were Mr. and Mrs. Mac Ashill, Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Tuttle, of Ithaca, N. Y., and Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Massengale.

Others entertaining parties were E. M. Butters and J. D. Soumenig.

Cascade Terrace Social Notes. Mrs. H. R. Richards entertained her bridge club Friday with a luncheon. Covers were placed for twelve.

The table and house was most attractive with flowers, gathered from the "Terrace gardens."

Warner's Seven Aces orchestra entertained with a dinner-dance Tuesday evening at the Terrace.

Mr. and Mrs. William A. Marker had ten friends for dinner Saturday evening.

Dr. and Mrs. M. D. Hall and family were among the diners Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Hurt, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Hutcheson, Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Pritchett, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Taylor formed a congenial party for a dinner-dance Thursday evening.

J. E. Warren entertained Sunday evening in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Whitington, of Atlanta, and Mr. Triebner, of Cleveland, Ohio.

Covers were placed for ten friends.

Miss Brown Weds Mr. Lively At Home Thursday Afternoon

A lovely afternoon wedding was that of Miss Mary Elizabeth Brown and Thomas Talmadge Lively, which was solemnized Thursday at 2 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Fletcher Brown, on Mosley drive.

Dr. S. R. Belk, pastor of Trinity church, performed the ceremony in the music room of the home before an altar of palms and flowers which was softly lighted with unshaded tapers in silver candelabra.

Lovely Setting. In the living and dining rooms gladioli, snapdragons and larkspur were effectively combined in the decorations. The arch connecting the music and living rooms was hung with garlands of smilax and the chandeliers were also festooned with smilax.

The maid of honor and only attendant was Miss Virginia Whitman, whose lovely pink georgette gown was trimmed in cream lace and worn with a hat to match. Her flowers were pink roses.

Little Miss Dorothy Hayne was the dainty flower girl, wearing a frock of orchid georgette with an orchid hat.

The charming bride was radiantly lovely in a heavily beaded crystal robe which was made along the fashionable draped lines and caught at one side with a pearl ornament.

White cordon crepe made the foundation and formed a cascade at the left side. A white picture hat of imported lace trimmed with orange blossoms completed the lovely costume. The bride carried a shower bouquet of roses and valley lilies.

Cecil G. Lively, brother of the groom, acted as best man.

Informal Reception. Following the ceremony an informal reception was held.

Mrs. J. E. Warren, mother of the groom, and Miss Lily Vardeman assisted the bride's parents in entertaining.

Mrs. Brown, mother of the bride.

which was heavily embroidered. Mrs. Lively wore a gown of black crepe combined with georgette and beaded in jet.

Miss Vardeman wore an afternoon gown of blue Spanish lace. The bride's table held in the center a large white wedding cake adorned with a miniature bride and groom in bridal attire.

Miss Marian Jack and Mr. W. L. Markert served punch from crystal bowls placed on the spacious verandas. The bowls were enbedded in mounds of pink and white sweet peas.

Mrs. Jack Rushin kept the bride's book.

Mr. and Mrs. Lively left during the afternoon for a wedding trip through the east after which they will make their home in Atlanta.

Miss Moore Hostess at Club. A pretty event of Thursday was the swimming party, followed by luncheon, at which Miss Jacqueline Moore was hostess, at the Piedmont Driving club, to a group of fourteen young friends.

Little Miss Moore was assisted in the entertainment of her guests by her mother, Mrs. Wilmer Moore.

Visitors Are Honored At Bridge-Tea

A lovely compliment to Mrs. Hampton Lowther, of Tampa, the guest of her mother, Mrs. W. W. Lambdin, and to Mrs. Leo Sheridan, of Macon, who is visiting Mrs. John Yopp, was the bridge-tea at which Mrs. Yopp was hostess Wednesday afternoon at her home on Barksdale drive.

The lovely home was decorated throughout with quantities of gladioli and sweet peas in effective arrangement.

The score prizes were French score novelties. The honor guests were presented with pretty vases in leather cases.

Mrs. Yopp received her guests wearing an afternoon gown of orchid georgette crepe with trimmings of cream lace.

Mrs. Sheridan was a charming figure in gray chiffon and lace.

Mrs. Lowther's lovely gown was of lavender georgette heavily beaded in crystal.

Sixteen guests were invited to meet the visitors.

Plans Made for Pleasures Of Wives of Visiting Elks

At the meeting held Thursday morning at the Atlanta Woman's club to prepare for the entertainment of the wives of visiting Elks during the coming convention, all plans were completed, committees appointed and dates set for all social activities to be given for the guests of Atlanta.

Mrs. B. M. Boykin, chairman of the women's entertainment committee for the Atlanta Woman's club, and Mrs. L. P. McClellan, chairman of the women's entertainment for the Elks' club home, presided at the meeting. The program for the entertainment of the ladies at the Elks' home during convention week was read and approved and details worked out for the afternoon tea to be given at the Atlanta Woman's club Tuesday, July 10, and the trip to Stone Mountain, which will take place Wednesday morning at 9:30 o'clock.

Mrs. T. T. Stevens, president of the city federation; Mrs. Charles Phillips, president of the Atlanta chapter; L. D. C. Mrs. Bun Wylie, regent of the Atlanta chapter; D. A. R. Mrs. Christian Clarke, regent of the Joseph Habersham chapter; D. A. R. Mrs. W. B. Bond, regent of the Elks' club in entertaining.

The receiving line for the tea on Tuesday, July 10, will stand under the trees on the club lawn, if the weather permits, where punch will be served as well as in the palm room, the dining room, and the banquet hall. Mrs. Charles Chalmers will be in charge of the program to be given in the auditorium. Risinger's orchestra will play during the afternoon.

The trip to Stone Mountain will be made Wednesday, July 11, at 9:30 o'clock. Mrs. W. B. Bond, co-chairman with Mrs. Boykin of the arrangements for this trip, will have as her able helper Trammell Scott and a number of the members of the American Legion. Mr. Scott will be grand marshal of the day. At the mountain food drinks will be served and a musical program presented. Mr. Gutson Borglum will make an address at this time, and the return will be made by 1 o'clock.

At the Elks' Home. The program planned by the Elks' home for their guests includes an acquaintance day on Monday. Several women will be on hand at the home on Ellis street, from 10:30 in the morning to 12 at night. There will be a general reception at 2:30 to the grand officers and their wives.

Tuesday and Thursday there will be refreshments served during the day, and a musical program on the fourth floor from 4 to 6 o'clock and from 8 to 9 o'clock. Wednesday the club house closes at 4 o'clock.

The following committees were appointed to receive with Mrs. Boykin Tuesday at the tea: Mrs. W. A. Little, Mrs. W. A. Sims, Mrs. Buford Goodwin, Mrs. Emmett Quinn, Mrs. L. P. McClellan, Mrs. John S. McClellan, Mrs. J. K. Ottley, Mrs. James L. Key, Mrs. Bob Gordon, Mrs. Walter Andrews, Mrs. Ivan Allen, Mrs. Enos Hartman, Mrs. Regenstein.

Assisting in receiving at the front-door will be Mrs. John M. Cooper, Mrs. Marshall George, Mrs. E. B. Durham, Mrs. Russell Bridges, Mrs. R. B. Ridley, Jr., Mrs. E. H. Goodhart, Mrs. Lillian Leopold, Mrs. Russell K. Smith.

Mrs. Arthur Hazard and Mrs.

Louise Spalding Foster, co-chairman of the banquet hall will have on their committee Mrs. W. M. Carmichael, Mrs. H. G. Carnes, Mrs. H. H. Hodnett, Mrs. Henry Clay Bagley, Mrs. James Hinton Clarke, Mrs. J. C. Brown, Mrs. Herbert Buell, Mrs. Thomas Austin, Miss Sally Melone, Mrs. Marion T. Benson, Mrs. Thomas Austin, Mrs. Oliver, Mrs. Frankton Ellis, Mrs. C. L. Williamson, Mrs. Tom Corigan, Mrs. F. H. Naelele, Mrs. Leroy Webb, Mrs. A. L. Norris, Mrs. Stiles Hopkins, Mrs. Edwin Haas, Mrs. L. S. Moss, Mrs. R. L. Turman.

Other Committees.

Mrs. R. B. Ridley, Jr., is chairman of the auditorium, and has appointed on her committee Mrs. E. F. Bond, Mrs. E. Volpi, Mrs. H. N. Goldsmith, Mrs. Al Martin, Mrs. Alice Taylor, Mrs. Claude Frederick, Mrs. Clarence Coppedge, Mrs. Omar F. Elder, Mrs. Fred Rogers.

The chairman of the serving committee will be Mrs. Bond, who will be assisted by Mrs. Clarke, Mrs. L. S. Moss, and Mrs. W. Hanaberry, of Jacksonville, Fla.

The chairman of the decorations committee is Mrs. G. M. Brandon, and the members of her committee are Mrs. William Oldknew, Mrs. J. Hinton Clarke, Mrs. Mayer Regenstein, Mrs. W. D. Stoddard, Mrs. Russell Smith, Mrs. Turner Carson, Mrs. H. G. Carnes.

M. Hannastee, of Jacksonville, Fla., Mrs. L. S. Moss, Mrs. Bob Gordon, Mrs. W. A. Sanger, Mrs. Catherine Watershee, Mrs. Russell Bridges, Mrs. George Adair, Mrs. Arthur May, Mrs. Stewart Hazzard, Mrs. William Oldknew, Mrs. C. L. Williamson.

Mrs. Catherine Watershee will be in charge of flowers for the hotels.

Household Suggestions. An old plate placed in the bottom of the saucepan in which a pudding is being boiled in a cloth will prevent the pudding from sticking to the pan.

On the House Dress.

A pocket is certainly a joy in one's house dress but so many women say they always catch them and tear them off. Why not make an inside pocket on a seam, like a child's old-fashioned pocket? Or try putting your patch pocket on the left side. It will not be so liable to catch there as on the right side.

Aladdin and the Wonderful Lamp To Be Seen

"Aladdin and His Wonderful Lamp," a fascinating picture in which all the actors are children, will be the feature at the Friday morning matinee at the Howard theater. It is a Fox production, and promises great entertainment for the young people, with the mysteries of the lamp and the genie portrayed before the eyes of the children.

"Snooker" (the monkey) will furnish the laughs for this week's program in a standard comedy. Following the antics of Snooker will be the educational picture, "The Mysterious Tracks," a Pathe picture, in which Bob and Bill play their usual parts.

Saturday morning at the Alpha theater Act Accord will stay in "The Trail of Death," this being the thirteenth episode of the "Oregon Trail," a Consolidated picture. Another feature of the morning's entertainment will be the Pathe first run 2-reel Western drama with Leo Maloney, "Tom, Dick and Harry." Amusements will be furnished by the Savin comedy, "Easy Street," starring Charlie Chaplin.

Mrs. G. H. Guy, chairman of chapters, announces that Mrs. M. L. Flora Newkirk will be on duty at the Howard theater Friday morning, and Mrs. Ellis Barrett, co-chairman of chapters, will be assisted Saturday morning at the Alpha by Mrs. Guy and Mrs. W. P. Lemmon, treasurer of the Better Film committee.

Turpentine.

Ink stains can be removed from linen with applications of turpentine and soap.

A few drops of turpentine in with the family wash will whiten the clothes wonderfully.

A sponge moistened with turpentine will brighten and clean gilt frames. Pat dry with clean cloth.

Moths will leave when turpentine fumes reach them. Scatter a few drops around their haunts.

SOUND TESTIMONIAL EVIDENCE

showing the power of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound over the ills of women is constantly being published in this paper. The strongest recommendation any article can have is that borne by the persons who use it. Once ill with ailments that caused suffering and despair, but now restored to the joys of health, from a grateful heart multitudes of women write letters of appreciation to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. of Lynn, Mass.

Such evidence of the power of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound over the ills of women should induce every suffering woman to try it.—(adv.)

Sigma Alpha Epsilon to Honor Governor-Elect Walker

A brilliant event of Friday evening will be the stag dinner to be given at the Capital City club by the Atlanta Alumni association of the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity in honor of Governor-elect Clifford M. Walker.

Governor William W. Brandon, of Alabama, will be the chief speaker of the evening. As the official representative of the fraternity will present to Governor-elect Walker a diamond badge as the gift of the fraternity through the action of its last national convention. Robert P. Jones, president of the Atlanta Alumni association, will preside.

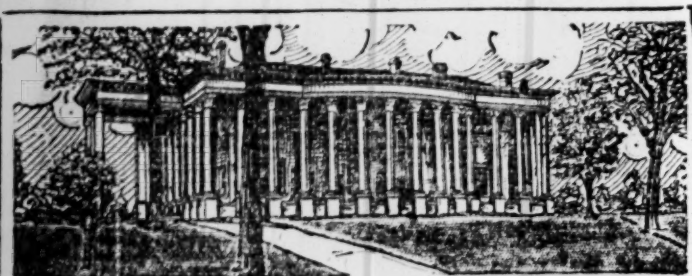

o'clock and will be entirely informal. All members of the fraternity living in Atlanta and any from other places who may be in Atlanta are expected to attend.

Governor-elect Walker became a member of the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity while a student at the University of Georgia. Governor Brandon became a member of the fraternity at its mother chapter, located at the University of Alabama. He has taken an active part in the affairs of the fraternity for years, was formerly its executive head, and is now honorary eminent supreme archon.

When Hearts Command

BY ELIZABETH YORK MILLER

To Hector and Jean it seemed quite the most natural thing in the world. They welcomed him gladly, and a little shyly. It was taken for granted that Alice would tell him that she was not Hugo Smaric's daughter.

And there had been a scene in a remote corner of the garden before Alice actually did tell him, in which neither Hector nor Jean shared. Philip had been shaken to his depths. It had come to the point where he realized there was nothing in life for him but the woman he loved, and the fear that she had really left him was not to be borne. He told her so, scarcely troubling to explain about poor Carrie Egan and her dying boy. He held her in his arms, and told her how much he loved her and that nothing else in the whole world mattered but their love for each other. He had come as soon as he possibly could to find her again and hold her to those sacred promises which time nor distance nor circumstances could ever break. Did she think so lightly of their pledge?

And in the old garden, so filled with memories, she let him know how wholly his she was, and told him about poor Hugo. He held her away from him and looked into her eyes. Then he laughed a little grimly.

"I wonder," he said, "I don't believe it could have made a scrap of difference in the long run whose daughter you are. Yet I'm glad—glad for both of us."

They had gone off together, Philip and Alice, not explaining it was to be their real honeymoon. But they had only gone as far as Alaska for a few days. Jean was not sorry to have them go. She was getting stronger every minute, and her nerves were steadier than they had been for years, but she felt the need of quiet and solitude. In two or three weeks—when the vintage was in—she would become the wife of Hector Gaunt. Bordighera did not know the inside of that old romance, although it had long foreseen the culmination. It was wonderful that in Hector's eyes she had not changed at all. They had no future plans—nothing definite at least, after the marriage ceremony in Genoa. Perhaps they would live at the farm, or here. It really did not matter one way or the other where they lived, so long as they were together. She sat down on the edge of the pool and dabbed her hand in the water. It was so quiet and serene. It had been years since she had experienced such a complete sense of peace. Presently the gate would click and she would hear

Hector coming up the driveway. He would be wearing clothes of ceremony after his day's toil in the vine terraces. Dear Hector! He was ridiculously solemn about this second courting. Twenty years ago he had been more tempestuous. A time saddened Hector who could not suddenly forget all the pain and suffering his youthful recklessness had cost them both.

Jean closed her eyes and breathed in the scene of the violet borders. A little bird piped with a sweet, long drawn note. Jean started and looked up. He was a fanciful looking little bird, swaying on a palm leaf just over her head—a curious bird, indeed, with a scarlet breast and greenish yellow wings. She had never seen one like him before. He looked down at her and blinked his bright eyes. Then he piped again, a trilling scale, ending in sharp high notes. It was exactly like Hugo's flute. Jean drew her lace shawl about her shoulders and stared at him, fascinated, apprehensive.

The gate clicked and the brilliant little bird spread his wings and soared away. In a moment he was no more than a speck against the sky. Hector Gaunt was coming up the drive, and Jean hurried to meet him.

toiled on and up, past the cobbled little space where the old-fishermen sat drowsing with their folded nets and through the narrow passage that led to the entrance of the Villa Tatina.

Alice's heart began to beat fast, and she leaned forward as though to quicken the pace. Soon she would see her mother—and her father. The gates to the villa stood open. This was the Villa Tatina, where her mother had loved and been courted. She threw a furtive glance at the suffering garden, so parched, so dry from Louisiana. "But, yes. You are and willing: The door to the villa also was open, and at the sound of wheels a woman servant came out. It was Clementine.

"Ah, signorina, whom are you seeking?"

"The Signora Carnay. She lives here, does she not?"

"Yes, the Signora Carnay lives here. But—"

"I am her daughter," said Alice. "Ah!" A gleam of admiration shone in Clementine's cold eyes. She had heard of the signora's daughter.

"But, yes. You are the Signora Ardenne? Yes?"

Alice nodded and turned to pay the cabman.

Clementine rushed to take the bags. "But you are here so quickly, signorina! How is it possible that you have come so quick? It was only yesterday—"

"Yesterday? What?" Alice's voice was sharp.

"That the Signora Carnay sent for you."

"Sent for me? My mother sent for me?"

"Yes. I took the telegram myself.

"Last evening, in fact. The poor nor, your uncle, is dying. And signora is herself ill. I heard carriage, and thought it was the tor again, although it is but an since he left. But come inside, signorina. You will faint in the heat will call the Signor Gaunt. Sit and rest a moment. How tired must be!"
